IMPORTANT FROM NEW-ORLEANS.

Arrival of the Steamer Fulton.

Great Success of Gen. Banks in the Teche Country.

HIS PROGRESS TO OPELOUSAS.

Battles Fought at Bethel Place and Vermillion Bayou.

DEFEAT OF THE REBELS.

Another Victory Won by Gen. Grover.

OVER 1,500 PRISONERS CAPTURED.

Reported Reduction of the Rebel Fortifications at Bute la Rose.

A Large Number of Rebel Steamers Destroyed.

The United States steamer Fulton, from New-Orleans and Key West, arrived at this port yesterday. She left New Orleans on the 9th, but grounding in the Mississippi was detained nine days, and did not leave the bar until the 19th. New-Orleans papers of that date were put on board, and through these we are put in possession of important information regarding the operations of Gen. Banks in the Teche Country, which will be found below.

From the New-Orleans Era, 19th.

The latest news from the front of our army on the Teche is of the same encouraging character as heretofore. On Friday night Gen. Banks reached Vermillionville, previous to which, however, a sanguinary and spirited fight took place at the crossing of Vermillion Bayou, a short distance this side of the village.

At this place the rebels posted a force of over 1,000 infantry and strong batteries of artillery in ambush. Fire was opened upon the advance of Gen. Banks' army from the whole force of the enemy. The fight raged furiously for some time, but resulted finally, after considerable loss on both sides, in the giving way of the rebels and the crossing of our troops.

It was reported last night that Gen. Banks would undoubtedly be in Opelousas by to-night, with his whole army.

Accounts from that part of the country state that the fortifications at Bute la Rose have been reduced by our fleet, and that the place is in our possession. At this place, as will be seen by the correspondence below, the rebels had, beside their land batteries, the ram Wm. H. Webb.

Our correspondent details the operations as they occurred after the attack on the fortifications of Bethel Place. After the second day's fight, the intrenchments were evacuated, leaving in our possession two pieces of artillery and a large quantity of ammunition, etc.

As the army advanced, they came up with a force under Gen. Grover, which had been engaged in a desperate fight, which is described. It was in Gen. Grover's engagement that most of the prisoners were taken.

Our forces have captured over 500 head of horses, mules and cattle, which are of incalculable value to the captors at this juncture of affairs.

This expedition of Gen. Banks up the Teche country, so far, has proved to be the most important and productive of the most satisfactory results of any that we have had to record since he has assumed the command of the Department of the Gulf. Our army is rolling like a ball of fire through the finest portion of Louisiana. When the rebels are thoroughly driven out of the Opelousas country, the backbone of the rebellion will be very much broken, so far as this State is concerned.

[It appears from the following letter, that a two days' fight had occurred at the fortifications of Bethel Place previous to the events narrated. Of these two days' operations we have yet received no account.—Ed. Times.]

Correspondence of the Era.

In the Field Above New-Iberia, April 17, 1863.

At 11½ o'clock, on the night of the 13th inst., Col. Kimball, of the Fifty-third Massachusetts, heard the enemy making preparations for evacuating his intrenchments. The moving of the artillery and baggage-wagons, packing and nailing of boxes, and drivers cursing their mules, could be distinctly heard by the advanced pickets of Col. Gooding's brigade. Col. Kimball immediately notified Col. Gooding of the fact, and he in turn sent word to Maj.-Gen. Banks.

No special movement was made in pursuit of the enemy until early the next morning, when Gen. Emory ordered a portion of his command to fire into the breastworks, to make sure that they were evacuated. But at this time Col. Kimball had entered the works on the right, and immediately planted tha national colors upon the parapet.

An advance of the whole column now took place, Gen. Weitzel's division taking the van. Upon entering the works, the scene on every hand gave the fullest evidence of bloody work the day before. Their unburied dead were lying around on all sides. Within an area of fifty feet thirty horses lay dead on the field.

There were found in the rebel works one 32-pounder smooth bore cannon, and a fine 12-pounder rifled brass howitzer. This latter piece, with its caisson, was being drawn over a bridge across a ditch to the rear of the works, when a solid shot from one of our 30-pounder Parrots struck the bed of the piece, and threw it with the caisson into the ditch, where it now lies.

Large stores of all kinds of ammunition and some Enfield rifles, and a few small arms, were found in the works, having been abandoned by the enemy. The remnants of a hasty meal were found scattered around near the cannon. In one place the earthworks were torn up by a bursting shell, and the earth in many places was very much plowed up by the iron missiles of death. The wildest enthusiasm prevailed among our troops as they entered this rebel stronghold. Loud cheers were given as the advancing column passed through the intrenchments, and beheld the fearful effects of the two days' struggle.

The army marched on the first day to a point just above Pattersonville, where it was learned that the prisoners taken from the Diana had been sent up to Franklin.

At Pattersonville, and for a short distance beyond there, the advance was annoyed by the rear guard of the retreating enemy, consisting of 100 cavalry and three pieces of artillery. Our van was frequently fired upon, but did not retreat out of range until the second day's march, when at one time finding themselves out of sight of the main body, the men in front fell back or waited until the whole force came up, when the march was resumed. The town of Franklin was reached on Wednesday. Before the day was out, over 200 prisoners were brought in and quartered in the Court-house. By the next night the number had increased to over 500, including whole companies, who were marched in at once. By a singular good fortune, three of the officers who were taken on the Diana were recaptured at this place.

When Jeff. Davis first made the proposition in the State of Louisiana that every man unwilling to fight for the Confederacy should leave the State, a Mr. Smith, of Louisville, had not time enough to leave with a light-draft steamer in his possession, and it was confiscated on the Ouachita. Its name was the Cornie. Since that time it has been employed to transport rebel troops and army stores. For the last two months it was constantly employed in carrying salt from the mines seven miles southwest of New-Iberia to the junction of the Teche and Cahawba bayous. From this point the salt has been transported to Alexandria, and by way of Red River to Vicksburgh, Port Hudson and other places, occupied by the rebels. On the 12th inst., early in the morning, the Cornie left New-Iberia with a lot of ammunition for the rebels at camp Bisland. Upon reaching that place the boat was detained to carry away the sick and wounded in case of any emergency. On the next night she received orders to get up steam and leave at once with the wounded. Accordingly, seventy-five wounded, some fatally, and also as many sick men, were placed on board, and the boat left for the hospital at New-Iberia. Only one surgeon was sent up with the wounded. Upon reaching Franklin, orders were given to burn and destroy all the boats. The sick could not be removed, and so a hospital flag was raised and an attempt made to pass Gen. Grover's command. After going a mile and a half above Franklin the Cornie met the Diana, and was ordered to return to Franklin, land the wounded and burn the boat. On reaching that place, Lieut. Allen, of Gen. Weitzel's staff, a wounded prisoner from the Diana, stepped up to the Captain and demanded its surrender. "Take charge of her, sir, and hoist your flag on her," was the only and immediate reply.

Dr. Alice, of the Diana, at once secured the services of other Federal Surgeons, and the sick and wounded were placed in a hospital under his charge.

By this fortunate capture, Lieut. Allen, of Weitzel's Staff; Capt. Jewett, of the One Hundred and Sixtieth New-York regiment; and Lieut. Alice, of the Diana, were retaken, and immediately commenced performing every service for the unfortunate sufferers.

On the day the Cornie was captured, the rebels burned the Newsboy, a large stern-wheeler; the Gossamer, stern wheel, larger than the Newsboy, and the Era No. 2, the largest of all. The gunboat Diana was burned at the same time—all of them at Franklin.

The next day, at New-Iberia, the Louisa, the Derby, the Uncle Tommy, (side-wheel, formerly a ferry-boat at Plaquemine,) the Blue Hammock, (side-wheel,) and the gunboat Hart, were all burned. The Cricket was sunk at the junction of the Teche and Cahawba bayous.

The gunboat Hart was one of the best and fastest gunboats in the rebel navy. She carried one 32-pound rifled cannon forward, and another like it aft, and two small smooth-bore 24-pound brass pieces under her casement. Her machinery and bulkheads were protected by 3-inch railroad iron, the heaviest kind in use. She had two splendid engines aboard, of 20-inch cylinder, 7 feet stroke. There were four double-flue boilers on the boat. She was commenced upon the day after the burning of the Cotten, but for some reason had not been finished until recently. She now lies with her ruined hulk across the Teche, above New-Iberia.

Large stores of provisions and ammunition were destroyed with these boats, including some twenty thousand pounds of bacon, and nearly a thousand cases of ammunition.

We are in possession of certain information with reference to the long-cherished designs of the enemy. They had purposed sending the gunboat Hart down the Teche, together with the Picayune, her transport. On the Catawba, they were about sending the Marietta and the B. L. Hodge. From the Red River, the Queen of the West, the Webb, the W. Roberts, the Grand Duke and the Roebuck were to come. Two rams, building at Shreveport, they were to send if finished. One of them, half solid, built purposely for butting, was to come round by way of the Mississippi and attack the boats at New-Orleans. Those on the Teche were to come directly down that bayou to Brashear City. Those on the Catawba and the Red River were to come down the Atchafalaya to the same point, and, after its capture, to go around by the Balize and another route to New-Orleans.

They were to rally their infantry at the same time at Plaquemine, and take the railroad running from Brashear City. On the 13th it was the enemy's design to retreat as far as Alexandria, about a hundred miles west of Opelousas, and make a stand. Kirby Smith was to meet them there with reinforcements, and assume command of them.

GEN. GROVER'S EXPEDITION.

As the main body of our troops reached Franklin, the news of Gen. Grover's recent operations was brought to Gen. Banks. Gen. Grover's division was in camp at Brashear City when the remainder of the forces started from Berwick City.

The division had been ordered to remain for the purpose of constituting an expedition to attack the enemy in the rear at the same time the main body drove him from the earthworks below.

Early on Sunday morning, the 12th inst., the whole division embarked on board the gunboats Calhoun, Clifton, Estrella and Arizona, and the transports St. Mary, Laurel Hill, Quinebaug, Southern Merchant and Segur.

Proceeding up the bay, through Grand Lake Pass and Grand Lake, by a cross bayou, they reached Irish Bend, on the Teche, a bend like that of an ox-yoke, about three miles west of Franklin.

The First Louisiana regiment was the first to land. It had hardly stepped ashore when an attack was made upon it by the rebels with two pieces of artillery and two hundred infantry. Some killed on both sides during the firing which immediately followed. The enemy were compelled to fall back. Upon reaching the Teche several rifle shots were fired by the rebels. They attempted to prevent the approach of our troops. This attempt likewise failed before the sharp firing of our men, and the rebels were driven still further back. Our men crossed the Teche and bivouacked for the night. The next morning at an early hour they started toward Franklin. While marching along the levee road, upon reaching a point two miles from Franklin, on what is called Irish Bend, they again met the enemy. There was a cross road meeting the main, and in this the rebel artillery was planted, commanding all the country about there.

As the troops came up, to their right was a thick forest of large trees, behind which the enemy was concealed, having also a wooden fence between them and their opposers. Preparations were made at once for a desperate attack. As one of their number, now a prisoner, remarked, "We know that we have got to fight hard, or be taken prisoners."

The Twenty-fifth Connecticut regiment was the first to engage the enemy. It occupied the centre of the line of battle, having the Twenty-sixth Maine regiment on the right, and the Thirteenth Connecticut regiment on the left, and supported by the Twelfth Maine regiment.

It was deployed as skirmishers on the left of the road, and thus marched until abreast of the woods, and then while under a sharp fire from the enemy, the line gradually swung round until it faced the woods, letting the enemy get to their rear. This accomplished, an attempt was made to captnre our artillery, without success, although the regiment gradually fell back until it received support from the Ninety-first New-York.

The Twenty-fifth Connecticut regiment was ordered into action on the left of the line, and in the advance.

They met the enemy awaiting their approach in a piece of woods, where their artillery was supported by a strong force of infantry and cavalry.

When a charge was ordered, to force the rebels from their position and to take their artillery, the Thirteenth had to charge through a plowed field and over two fences.

Notwithstanding these obstacles, this regiment succeeded in capturing two caissons, six horses, two swords, and a splendid flag from the enemy. The flag was of fine silk, six feet in length, bordered with rich silver tinsel, and bore upon it the inscription—"The Ladies of Franklin to the St. Mary's Cannoneers."

Soon after the charge of the Thirteenth, the enemy fell back defeated. The force opposed to us was not large, but had the advantage of position, and of making a surprise. The total force of the rebels, both here and at the batteries below, did not exceed 10,000 men.

Our loss was considerable, and that of the enemy must have corresponded with ours.

Sibley's brigade was included in this number—two regiments of Texas cavalry, Capt. Sims' battery, and the Valverde and Pelican batteries. The whole force was under the command of Gen. Dick Taylor, son of the late Zachary Taylor.

At this moment the whole force is retreating from our troops, demoralized and hopeless of their cause.

By the time our troops had arrived at New-Iberia, nearly 560 horses, mules, and beef cattle had been collected, and were placed in kraals along the wayside. Their numbers were so rapidly augmented by the constant seizures from the plantations bordering the road, that it became necessary to establish additional places for their safe keeping. The mules were found very useful to the regimental surgeons in the transportation of the sick. Some fine blooded horses were made to replace the more jaded animals bestrode by officers.

Seven miles West of New Iberia, and near Vermillon Bay, in the middle of a mud lake, thick grown with flag and cane, rises a ledge of solid rock, the surface and depth of which have not been discovered. From this mine thousands of dollars' worth of the best of salt has been daily sent away for the use of the rebel army. Negroes were employed to blast and break it up, some being ground at the mine. It is reported that the rebels paid four and a half cents per pound for what they took away. When our troops reached Iberia, a regiment was sent up to take possession, and destroy all the tools and machinery there.

When our gallent men are facing death upon the field, risking their lives at every moment, it is gratifying to know that skillful hands are ready to bind up their wounds, and render every service to comfort the bed of pain. During the engagements of Sunday and Monday, Dr. D. L. Rogers, Acting Medical Director of the Department, labored hard to prove every possible convenience for the wounded, establishing hospitals, and keeping an ambulance corps in constant readiness to convey the wounded from the field.

For the time two hospitals were established, one at Brashear City, and one at New-Iberia, whence the wounded will be conveyed to New-Orleans at the first opportunity. A hospital was established at Franklin after the return of the Cornie, and filled with the rebel sick and wounded. Dr. Rogers left it in charge of Dr. Alice, formerly Surgeon of the Diana. Afterward the very wise plan was adopted of paroling the wounded, and giving them it to the hands of their friends.

Connected with the advance of the expedition, nothing more plainly indicated the demoralized condition of the rebel army than the rapid capture of their disheartened soldiers. During the actions of Bethel Place, and Irish Bend, along the route taken by the defeated, and at Franklin, New-Iberia, and other places, crowds of them have fallen into our hands. Already nearly fifteen hundred prisoners have been taken, including some characters well known in New-Orleans.

A short distance below New-Iberia our forces discovered a foundry by the wayside, an examination of which disclosed the fact that it had been used for casting shot and shell. It had, however, been abandoned, with all its machinery, tools and a quantity of shot and shell.

From letters found in Capt. Fuller's possession, it is known that the Webb, on the 13th, was at Bute la Rose. The Marietta was on the Red River, as also the transport Grand Duke. It appears that the rebels were not informed of the proposed attack on Bethel Place. This letter of Gen. Taylor to Capt. Fuller was written on the 12th of April, at the very moment our forces were before the enemy's works. It very properly recommends to Capt. Fuller that he postpone the attack upon Brashear City. So it has come to light that we had delayed so long in attacking the enemy, that he was bold enough to organize an expedition against us.

CAPTURE OF A U. S. STEAMER.

From the Mobile Register and Advertiser, 15th.

Some few days since a party of eighteen men, under the leadership of Capt. Andrews, an old Mississippi steamboat man, obtained permission from Gen. Buckner to go and capture a boat at the entrance of Pass a l'Outre. They left Fort Gaines in a yawl, and proceeded on their enterprise. On Sunday night they found the tow-boat Whittemore tied at the mouth of the Pass, and were met by the watchman, who, finding himself "looking into the barrel of a repeater," and warned not to give the alarm, very considerately and Yankee-like obeyed. The hatches were attended to, and the balance of the party proceeded to arrest the rest of the crew, who were calmly and unsuspectingly sleeping. In twenty minutes from the time they boarded the boat, they had steam up, and proceeded down the Pass. They met transports, but were not then discovered. A boat appeared to chase or hover around her next morning, but she escaped safely until she reached the blockaders outside our bay. She ran the blockade under a heavy fire, and was struck twice, but received little or no injury. She arrived in the stream opposite the city about six o'clock yesterday evening. The daring party captured, beside the boat, a large quantity of coal and twenty-three prisoners—among whom is one Goodrich, who is a ship-carpenter, and worked in this city for ten or fifteen years. The Whittemore (now the Fox) is a splendid tug-boat, with powerful machinery and sound, and is altogether a superb prize. So much for eighteen of our "horse marines."

This daring and successful expedition was fitted out by Mr. Julius Buttner, an enterprising merchant of this city.

FROM THE SOUTH CAROLINA COAST.

The Savannah News states that there were on Thursday, at Port Royal two steam frigates, eight gunboats, five iron-clads, three ships, four barks, three brigs, seven ocean steamers, six river steamers, five tugs and thirty-six schooners. On Friday morning four additional iron-clads and fourteen schooners arrived, making a total of 118, (including nine iron-clads,) now at Port Royal.

From the Charleston Courier, April 17.

Reliable information received in the city, yesterday, states that the enemy are leaving Folly Island. It was also rumored and believed that the Yankee troops on Edisto, Seabrook's and Kiawah Islands were embarking for Hilton Head. Hunter's grand army, which was to take possession of the city after the reduction of the forts and batteries by the Monitor fleet, it is believed, have been leaving for their old quarters, as fast as their transports could take them, ever since their disastrous repulse. We learn, from a late arrival through the lines from Hilton Head, that the Yankees there freely admit their Monitors to be a total failure. Our informant, who was there at the time of the arrival of the first Monitor after the fight, states that she was towed to Hilton Head by two steamers, and came there in a sinking condition. Her turret had been crushed in some places by our shot about half way through.

All of the remaining Monitors had arrived before he left. Every one of them were more or less crippled, and exhibited numerous marks of the ordeal through which they had passed. The turrets of mostly all were so badly damaged as to have entirely lost their revolving power. Three of the Monitors, it was reported, would have to be sent to New-York for repairs. The other three, it was thought, might be repaired at Hilton Head.

It was also reported at the time our informant left that the Yankee frigate Pensacola had been captured and destroyed by our forces near New-Orleans. He was unable, however to learn any particulars in relation to the affair, though the news was considered reliable.

THE IRON-CLADS.

From the Richmond Dispatch, April 23.

The result of the conflict in Charleston harbor has demonstrated that iron-clads cannot be made impregnable. The Brooks ball, which the Yankees have falsely attributed to English manufacture, has riddled the boasted monsters like sieves, and the lesson will not be lost either upon them or Europe. The construction of iron-covered ships has been going on rapidly and steadily in both England and France, and we believe it remains an open question in both those countries whether any missiles could be constructed which would perforate heavy iron sheathing. To Lieut. Brooks belongs the honor of solving this problem, and we may expect the solution to have its effect upon naval architecture throughout the world. Whilst iron-clad ships may be useful for harbor defence, it is clear that they are not, even upon smooth water, invulnerable, whilst at sea the slightest gale would send them to the bottom. For operations upon the ocean such a ship as the Alabama is worth a dozen iron-clads. The sea fights will have to be fought in the old way, by timbers and hearts of oak, and in the conflicts of forts with ships, the superiority which the former always upheld will continue, in spite of all the coats of mail that ships can be clothed in.

AFFAIRS AT SUFFOLK.

From the Richmond Dispatch, April 23.

The intelligence which we receive from this point of interest is exceedingly meagre, but enough is known to confirm the reported capture of a battery of five pieces by the enemy on Sunday night. The pieces composing this battery are said to have been very excellent ones, and were manned by a company from Fauquier County, commanded by Capt. Stribling. An infantry company which was stationed at Keeling's farm to support the battery, is reported to have been captured at the same time. No particulars have yet reached us of the circumstances connected with the capture. On Monday morning the enemy shelled the woods around Suffolk in every direction.

GEN. WHEELER'S RECENT OPERATIONS.

A correspondent of the Chattanooga Rebel, writing from McMinnville, Tenn., gives some of the particulars of Gen. Wheeler's recent exploits. Nine miles beyond Nashville, Gen. Wheeler arrested a train on the Louisville and Nashville Road, and captured an immense supply of Federal Government stock, burning cars, locomotives, &c. Subsequently he approached the rear of Nashville by one of his characteristically bold and brilliant feats, within nine miles of Nashville, and pitched into a train upon the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad. The train was halted, but not before a well-directed volley had been fired into the fast-speeding cars. As a result of this exploit, Gen. Wheeler had the pleasure of securing three of Rosecrans' Staff officers, thirty-five other individuals who bore the insignia of rank, and about one hundred Confederate soldiers who had been captured and were on their way to jail. The little volley fired into the train resulted in killing some thirty Federal soldiers, and wounding thrice that number.

Among the spoils of Gen. Wheeler was the celebrated Trautso pistol, just presented to Gen. Rosecrans by some time-serving Yankee, and inscribed with the names of seven battle-fields upon which Old Rosy had distinguished himself.

"THE IMPENDING CLASH OF ARMS."

From the Mississippian.

From a careful survey of "the situation" which the movements of the Federal armies present, the conviction has been gradually forced upon our minds that our enemy is preparing to mass a tremendous force of perhaps not less than three hundred thousand men in Middle Tennessee under the command of Rosecrans, to hurl upon Gen. Johnston and his sturdy soldiers, with the hope of annihilating them, and thus opening up the way to the Mississippi Valley and the heart of the Confederacy.

It will be the battle of the war; and if it is not decisive—if it is not followed by speedy peace—it will, at least, determine, beyond doubt, the future character and final result of the contest. It is the blow of all others we have most to dread, and our Generals should not be slow in making ample preparations for the coming storm.

Already transports are conveying Yankee troops from Vicksburgh. That expedition upon which our enemy staked so much, is a failure. The whole force of Gen. Grant is doubtless intended to reinforce the Tennessee army. A large portion of the army on the Potomac have been sent to the same destination. All indications go to prove that a great battle in Tennessee is imminent. What preparations are being made on our side for it, it is not necessary or prudent to speak. Suffice it to say, we are entirely hopeful, and firm in the belief that our brave veterans, outnumbered though they may be, will be more than able to vanquish the legions of the enemy.

THE SIEGE OF VICKSBURGH.

Correspondence of the Augusta Chronicle.

Vicksburgh, Monday, April 13, 1863.

We learn from Yankee accounts that the 25th ult. was the appointed time for the assault here, but was prevented by the storm. Not much reliance can be placed in this report, as it is not likely that the Federals had a sufficient force here at that time to make the effort. While his army was divided into half a dozen different corps, and each one was engaged in a different occupation, in digging canals and endeavoring to turn Vicksburgh, there was not force enough left in front to make an attack, independent of assistance from the others. But now it has been proclaimed as Grant's intention to concentrate his whole army, and bring it direct against the place.

Although we know full well that they cannot reduce the place by an effort of this kind, it is evident that it is the only plan left them to get out of the dilemma in which they have placed themselves. The whole North is clamoring for an attack on Vicksburgh, thinking no doubt that all that is required to capture the place is to make the effort by the invincible Abolitionists. If this is done, and meets with a disastrous repulse, then the ardor of Yankeedom will be cooled for awhile, and the army will have time to recover from the sad effects of a defeat, before the outside pressure will again compel it to march into the jaws of death, as it surely will every time it approaches Vicksburgh.

Of late another effort has been made to open a new route for the transports to get below this place through the Louisiana swamps by way of Brusby Bayou, into Roundaway Bayou, which would carry their boats across the peninsula from twenty miles above to thirty miles below Vicksburgh. But there is no danger to be apprehended from this, as these bayous are so familiar to many of the residents here that it is well known they never can be made navigable, and have long since lost their character as bayous, being filled up to a level with the surrounding land, and only in high water seasons afford a sort of basin for the water from the overflowing river.

On Saturday it was rumored that an attack would be made on the city during the night, but nothing occurred to disturb the usual quiet, and it probably is premature to look for an attack for a day or two, but it cannot be long delayed, as his large fleet is now close to the city, and the drowning out of his camp over the river shows that he does not intend to make a protracted stay in the swamp when he comes again, but will at once strike for the hills to find a better camping place for his miserable Hessians. We may expect an attack the coming week with a good deal of certainty.

THE REBEL CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Wednesday, Mr. Semmes, of Louisiana, from the Joint Committee on Flag and Seal, reported a bill to establish the flag of the Confederate States, which was passed. It provides that the flag of the Confederate States shall consist of a white field, with the battle flag for a union, which shall be square and occupy two-thirds of the width of the flag, and a blue bar, one-third of the flag in its width, dividing the field lengthwise.

A bill introduced yesterday by Mr. Wigfall, to amend the Impressment act, was taken up and passed. It provides that when the impressing officer disapproves of the appraisement, the claim shall be referred to the proper accounting officer of the Government, to be settled according to the principles of equity and justice.

Before the passage of the bill Mr. Wigfall caused to be read a letter from E. C. Mosby, Agent, to Capt. R. P. Archer, A. Q. M., Richmond, stating that 73 bales of hay, impressed by him in Powhatan County, belonging to M. W. Michaux, had been appraised by Geo. Y. Bradley and John N. Woodfin, at $20 per hundred. Dr. Michaux declining to serve, Mr. Bradley was selected appraiser on behalf of the Government. Mr. Mosby expresses the opinion that if this price is to be repeated in future appraisements the debt incurred by the Government to sustain the army will reach to such an enormous figure as may endanger its ultimate payment.

In the House, the consideration of the bill reported by Mr. Gray, of Texas, amendatory of the sequestration law, was resumed. A substitute for the first section of the bill was offered by Mr. Hedge, of Kentucky, providing that all enactments authorizing, directing or permitting the sale of real estate or slaves are hereby repealed; but the Courts provided for by the original act and amendments, may make such orders and decrees for the custody and management of real property or slaves as shall preserve the same from waste and damage. This substitute was adopted by a vote of 34 to 25. A motion to postpone the bill indefinitely was rejected—Ayes 26, Noes 42. The vote was then taken upon the bill reported from the Committee, as amended, in lieu of the Senate bill, and it was agreed to. The vote upon the final passage of the bill was then taken, and resulted—Ayes 31, Noes 39.

THE GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

SENATE—APRIL 15.

A House bill to indorse Confederate bonds was, on motion of Gen. Hansell, laid on the table for the balance of the session. Those who voted in the affirmative were Messrs. Beasley, Benson, J. R. Brown, Gaston, Gordon, Griffin, Hansell, Harris, Hill, Jas. Hilliard, Thos. Hilliard, Jackson, Jamison, Killen, Lewis, McKea, Mitchell, Seward, Simmons, Smith, Stephens, Swearingen and Ware—24. Those who voted in the negative were Messrs. Alexander, Boyd, Wm. M. Brown, Moseley, Pinckard, Snewmake and Vason—10.

A House bill to amend the oath of tax-payers, provides that they shall give in their property according to the value in Confederate currency—passed.

The resolutions condemning the running of the blockade were indefinitely postponed.

Resolutions in relation to impressment, and asking Gen. Mercer to make his requisition for laborers needed, in accordance with the impressment law of Congress, was postposed indefinitely.

HOUSE—APRIL 15.

At night the House was in session, and engaged in discussion on a bill to organize a State Guard—Judge Cabiness' bill, which was defeated last session, and laid on the table a few days ago. The bill includes all between 18 and 60 years of age, who are not subject to conscription. It exempts men in Government employ, Judges, railroad and telegraph operators, express employes, millers, and such others as the Governor may in his discretion include. It abrogates the commissions of militia officers, and provides that officers be elected. It requires drills every three months. A vigorous effort was made to leave the present officers—known as Gov. Brown's defenders—in command, but it was decided that they be "relieved of their commands," and turned over to the tender mercies of the enrolling officers. On the passage of the bill the ayes were 53, nays 46. This is a most important and timely measure, and will do very much to give a sense of security to the public mind, and to prepare a vigorous and effective militia force for the suppression of insurrection, or to repel invasion.

MISCELLANEOUS.

We take the following items from the Richmond Dispatch of the 23d;

Garroters are again at work in Richmond, and persons should be on their guard. Yesterday morning a well-known gentleman in this city arrived here on the Danville train about daybreak, and, carpet-bag in hand, started for his residence on Chockoe Hill. On arriving at the corner of 9th and Marshall streets, he was set upon by three ruffians, who, after choking him till he was insensible, robbed him of his valise, pocket-book and other articles.

The rye and clover crop will be ready for use as food for cattle early in May, when the farmers will cease to be dependent on the millers for offal. The wheat is looking well, and a quantity has been seeded larger than at any previous period. The cold, damp weather has aided the growth of this cereal very much. Some of the farmers have already put in their corn crop, while others are busily employed in preparing their land for that purpose. In some gardens in Henrico the Irish potato plants are above ground, peas are in bloom, and beats fit for weeding.

M. Fortz, French Consul at Mobile, has been authorized and requested by Lord Lyons to act as British Consul for the time, subject, we suppose, to the permission of the United States Government.

Major-Gen. Dabney H. Maury, of Virginia, says the Knoxville Register, is soon to take command of the Department of East Tennessee.

The Charelston, South Carolina, papers have advanced their advertising rates to $2 per square.

Personal.—We understand that Col. T. B. Thorpe was to leave New-Orleans about the 18th instant for a flying trip to this City and Washington. We understand that he is intrusted with important business matters, both civil and military.

IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO.

Official Dispatches Received in Washington.

Partial Confirmation of the News Received via Matamoras.

Bombardment of Puebla by the French.

An Attempt to Carry Fort St. Xavier by Assault.

The Assaulting Columns Repulsed and Destroyed.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Washington, D. C., Sunday, April 26.

The Mexican Minister received good news today from his Government. Gen. Ortega has written four letters to Gen. Comonfort, dated March 24, which we translate:

For three days I have been so occupied as to have no time to write. The enemy decided to attack Puebla, but not with a bayonet assault or an attack in close column. They did us the honor of a formal siege.

Three days ago their cannonade everywhere commenced, although not with much activity. Yesterday the fire was very lively, particularly on our side, to prevent them planting their batteries. Toward evening the enemy commenced to throw shell from the Mexican road upon the forts D'Iturbide and Morrillos. Our mortars replied with such effect that the enemy could accomplish nothing for the rest of the day. The cannonade continued during the night, feebly, however.

The shelling has continued from different points to-day, and the cannonade has been swollen by rifle firing from both armies. I made eighty men armed with rifles, belonging to the region of the North, open their fire, and Col. Auza, who commands Fort Morrillos, placed riflemen of the Fifth battalion of Zacateczas upon all the inequalities of ground about the fort and near the enemy. We had but few killed or wounded. The enemy suffered more than we. He was dislodged from every position he held yesterday, by our troops making sorties from the forts. The advanced posts of Col. Auza drove back the advanced posts of the French, who endeavored to seize St. Iago. The troops of Morella likewise repelled the French who attacked St. Martin, and the soldiers of Guanajuato treated as unkindly the pickets and tirailleurs who endeavored to get possession of the level space on one of the flanks of the last-named work.

Yesterday a section of troops of Urango drove back the French from L'Agua Azul. Some Zouaves were killed, and three of them threw away their rifles, which were picked up by our soldiers.

The enemy to-day occupied some houses in the Quarter St. Matias, but were forced out of them by the destruction of the buildings.

You can declare to the Supreme Government that if we lose this city by the vicissitudes of war, the enemy will have conquered but a mass of ruins, because the garrison has sworn to defend to the last extremity the forts which surround the town. Say to the Government, moreover, not to consider these words as boastful, but as the true expressions of the sentiments of the army. We are in the highest state of confidence and morale. The mercantile establishments continue open, notwithstanding the fire from every quarter.

A Mexican sergeant was made a prisoner. I ordered that he should be marked in the face as a traitor, and turned loose. The nation has need to know her good from her bad sons.

LETTER OF MARCH 25.

The fire was very lively during the night. Now, at 8 o'clock in the morning, a messenger tells me the French begin to attack. I go to prepare all for our defence.

LETTER OF MARCH 26.

Nine o'clock in the Morning.—Last night at 11 the enemy held ready a strong column, protected by parallels, and showed all the movements which presage assault. I hastened to anticipate him, and commenced firing upon his camp. He replied with his artillery, which he is at this hour actively using. The centre and west of the city begin to suffer from the bombardment. The morale of our army is perfect. To-day and last night we had some misfortunes to deplore, but very few considering the active fire of the enemy.

SECOND LETTER OF MARCH 26.

The valiant army which I have the honor to command, has just the given the enemy a serious check. His active fire of shot and shell had destroyed a part of the Fort of St. Xavier by 9 o'clock last night. This morning he detached several columns of attack, and assailed the work. Our braves repulsed and destroyed these columns in less than an hour, and to obtain this result, I did not have to call upon a single one of the seven strong brigades of infantry which formed my reserve. The enemy has caused great damage to innocent families with shells flung into the centre of the city. Our loss last night was only sixty killed and wounded.

From Monterey.

THE REPORTED REPULSE OF THE FRENCH.

From the New-Orleans Era, 19th.

We are indebted to Mr. Kinney, United States Vice-Consul at Monterey, for the following confirmation of the report that dispatches had been received announcing the defeat of the French at Puebla:

United States Consulate at Monterey,
April 3, 1863.

To the Editor of the Era:

The Government express arrived here last night, bringing news from Puebla of the repulse of the French forces after three days' fighting. I send you the Boletin extra, which contains the official dispatches.

As this goes by special express to Matamoras, I have no time to make you any translations.

This news is generally credited and is undoubtedly true in the main. This news created great excitement. Though in the midst of the ceremonies of Holy Week, to-day being Good Friday, the enthusiasm of the people knew no bounds. The Plaza de Armas was crowded with a shouting multitude, and the ringing of bells, the firing of rockets, the salvos of artillery, demonstrated the perfect joy of the occasion. Further particulars are expected in a day or two. If anything occurs to vary the complexion of this, I will advise you. Yours obediently,

M. M. KINNEY, United States Vice Consul.

Arrivals in the City.

The Ute delegation, composed of seven Indian chiefs, returned to this City from Washington on Saturday afternoon. They are accompanied by their special agent, William J. Godfrey, Major Lafayette Head, agent Covejos Colorado and John M. Clarke, from Denver City. They are at the Metropolitan Hotel, where they remain during their brief stay.

Senator Ira Harris and E. D. Woodruff, Albany; Baron Von Limburgh, Prussian Minister at Washington, and Dr. L. A. Birdsall, California, are at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

Gen. Sprague, Adjutant-General of this State, arrived at the Astor House on Saturday evening.

Capt. J. M. Whittemore, U. S. Army, and Capts. J. G. Hazard and H. J. Bloodgood, of Rhode Island, are at the Albemarle Hotel.

United States Circuit Court.

Before Judge Shipman.

Crawford Allen et al. vs. John N. Bradley et al.—This was an action to recover the value of some goods sent by the plaintiffs to agents of theirs in this City, and by them sold to the defendants. The plaintiffs claimed that the sale was unauthorized by them, and on this ground claimed to recover back the goods. In the course of the trial, letters between the plaintiffs and their agents were produced referring to the sale, which the Court held to be an authorization of the sale, and directed a verdict for the defendants.

For plaintiffs Mr. Cozzens; for defendants, Mr. Whiting.

Motion for Costs under Section 301 of the Code—When Should it be Made?

KINGS COUNTY COURT.

Before Judge Garrison.

Williams vs. Chase.—This was a motion for costs to the defendant in proceedings supplementary to execution, in pursuance of the provisions of section 301 of the Code.

The examination of the defendant was had in June and July last, and upon the conclusion thereof, upon motion of the plaintiff's counsel, the 7th of July was set down for the hearing of a motion for a Receiver. On that day the plaintiff did not appear, either in person or by counsel. Defendant's attorney, however, declined to take the plaintiff's default, stating that he did not know what might be the cause of his non-appearance, and, as it might be a matter of impossibility, he would not take advantage of his absence. The matter was, therefore, left open for the parties to agree upon a time for the hearing. Subsequently no further step was taken in the matter by the plaintiff, he having in the meantime instituted other proceedings against the defendant.

Now, after a lapse of nearly ten months, upon notice, motion was made by the defendant for his costs, upon his affidavit that the plaintiff never expected that the examination would result in the discovery of property for the satisfaction of the judgment, and that he had so stated to the defendant, also setting forth reasons for delay in making the motion, by way of excuse for his apparent laches.

Defendant's counsel submitted, that as the matter was wholly within the discretion of the Court, and as the motion could not be made until the proceeding had terminated favorably to the defendant, or had been abandoned by the plaintiff, and as there was no rule directing precisely at what time thereafter the motion should be made, the defendant should have his costs, if his reasons for so long delaying the motion were deemed a sufficient excuse by the Court.

The Court suggested that the proper time to have made the motion would have been upon the plaintiff's failure to appear on the motion for a Receiver, and intimated a doubt as to its present jurisdiction to make the order. Papers taken and decision reserved.

Jno. S. Benson for motion.

Residence and Jurisdiction—Can a Government Department be said to be the "Place of Business" of a Clerk Therein?

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Justice Monell.

John McEwan vs. Nathan G. Burgess et al.—Judgment was rendered in this action in favor of the plaintiff, whereupon supplementary proceedings were instituted, and the order therein was served upon the defendant at the United States Bonded Warehouses, No. 56 Broadway, where the defendant is engaged a part of the time each day.

On the return day the defendant objected to the order, and moved to set it aside, on the ground that the defendant was a non-resident, and that the Court had no jurisdiction; showing, also, that the defendant did business in the City of Brooklyn, being engaged there in the manufacture of photographic chemicals, and also had his place of business in that city.

That he could be found at the Bonded Warehouses was admitted, but that it was not the defendant's "place of business,"—which alone gives this Court jurisdiction—but the place of business of the United States Government; the defendant passing a part of his time there only, and therefore did not come within the rule.

In opposition to this view, the plaintiff's counsel urged that a person may have a half dozen places of business in as many counties, but if he have one in the City of New-York, or a place where he passes a part of the business hours of the day, he clearly comes within the jurisdiction of this Court, by the amendment of 1858 to the 292d section of the Code.

Decision reserved.

Gordon L. Ford for motion; Roswell D. Hatch opposed.

Southern Flour is doing better, sales 1,070 bbls., at $7 05@$7 45; for poor to good superfine, $7 50@$8 75 for fancy to choice brands, and $8 80@$9 75 for very superior family brands, ₱ bbl. Canadian Flour is advancing; sales 750 bbls. Extra, at $6 75@$8 ₱ bbl. Rye Flour continues inactive, at $3 40@$5 40 for fine and superfine, ₱ bbl. Corn Meal is inquired for at $4 15@$4 50 for Jersey, and $4 60@$4 65 for Brandywine, ₱ bbl., and the latter in puncheons at $21 50@$22 each.

GRAIN—Wheat has been quite dull and nominal, with only trivial sales reported, at irregular prices. Corn has been actively sought after, at firmer prices. Sales have been reported of 98,000 bushels, at 88c.@90c., and 91c. for very choice, in store and delivered, for shipping Mixed Western; 85c.@87c. for Eastern do.; 81c.@85c. for Unsound; 91c.@92c. for Yellow Western; and 92c.@93c. for Yellow Jersey, ₱ bushel. Rye is in more request, $1 05@$1 08, according to quality, ₱ bushel; sales 5,200 bushels. Oats continue in moderate demand, including Canada, at 86c.@88c.; Western, at 86c.@88c.; State at 88c.@88½c. ₱ bushel. Barley continues very quiet at $1 45@$1 60 ₱ bushel.

HAY—North River continues in fair request, at 80c.@$1 ₱ 100 lbs.

HOPS—New have been quiet to-day at, according to quality, from 16c.@24c. ₱ lb.

HIDES—Receipts have been much heavier, while sales have been rather moderate, during the past week. Messrs. H. D. HULL & Co. notice the movements in the principal kinds, thus, Dry Hides—The arrival, early in the week, of several large parcels of the better grades of hides had a tendency to still further depress the market, and we can report no revival from the dullness of the last two or three weeks during this. There appears little or no disposition on the part of the trade to renew operations, and holders, for the most part, in view of that fact, refrain from pressing their stocks on the market. In prices there has been no quotable change. Wet Salted Hides—For Domestic Slaughters, there is only a moderate demand for consumption, and the sales effected have been principally small parcels, forced on the market. Most of the Stock, however, is held withdrawn for the present. We report the arrival of 498 Rio Grande, ex. Olivia, which have since been sold at 13½c. cash. For Upper Leather Hides there is a moderate inquiry at low rates, but the disparity in the views of buyers and sellers is too great to allow of transactions. Calcutta Hides—Both Cows and Buffaloes are in limited request at lower rates. Holders, however, refuse to make the concession demanded by buyers, and transactions are consequently prevented. The week's receipts have been 65,132 hides, and 29 bales; sales, have been 21,000 hides, including: 3,500 Dry Buenos Ayres, 20@22 lbs., 20c.@27½c., cash, usual selection; 3,200 Dry Rio Grande, 21 lbs., 25½c.@26c., cash, usual selection; 6,000 Dry California, 25 lbs., 27½c., cash, usual selection; 1,910 Dry Porto Cabello, 23 lbs., 20c., cash, as they run; 1,300 Dry Barcelona, 22 lbs., private terms; 5,600 Dry Chagres, 18 lbs., 23c., cash, rejecting bad hides: 500 Dry Western, 20@25 lbs., on private terms; 200 Dry Salted Para, 20 lbs., on private terms; 1,000 Country Slaughters, 50@65 lbs., 10c.@10½c., cash; 450 City Slaughter 60@75 lbs., 9½c.@10½c., cash; 450 Wet Salted Rio Grande Cow, 50 lbs., 13½c., cash. The stock on hand of Ox and Cow Hides is 288,500 (same time last year, 191,000—year before 409,400,) and 216 bales.

LUMBER—A fair inquiry prevails for Eastern Spruce and Pine at buoyant prices.

MOLASSES—Sales, 730 bbls. New-Orleans at 35c.@54½c. ₱ gallon.

PETROLEUM—Has been in good demand at 23½c.@24c. for crude, and 43c.@47½c. for refined, free, ₱ gallon.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been purchased to the extent of 1,150 bbls., in lots, at $13@$13 25 for old Mess; $15 25 for new Mess, and $11@$13 25 for old and new Prime, ₱ bbl. Cut Meats are in pretty fair request, at 6½c.@8c. for Hams, and 5c.@5½c. for Shoulders, ₱ lb. Bacon is in more demand at 6½c.@8½c. ₱ lb.; sales 1,250 boxes. Lard is less buoyant; sales 1,165 tcs. and bbls., at 9½c.@10½c. ₱ lb. Beef is in limited request; sales 160 bbls. at $12 25@$13 50 for Extra Mess, and $10@$12 for Plain Mess, ₱ bbl. Prime Mess, $19 50@$21 ₱ tierce; India Mess, $22 50@$25 ₱ tierce. Beef Hams, $14@$16 50 ₱ bbl. Butter continues depressed, at 14c@18c. for poor to choice Western, and 16c.@22c. for common to choice State ₱ lb. Cheese is in less demand at 10c.@14c. ₱ lb.

SALT—Has been very quiet, and somewhat nominal.

SEEDS—Sales in Philadelphia, during the week, comprised 1,500 bushels Clover at full rates.

SUGARS—Sales to-day, privately and by auction, 1,050 Hhds., including New-Orleans, at 7¾c.@12c., and Cuba, part at 10c.@11c., ₱ lb. Refined Sugars have been in moderate demand. Messrs. STUART now quote: Loaf, 14⅞c.; Crushed, 14⅝c.; Granulated, 14½c.; Ground, 14¼c.; White A, 13¾c.; Yellow C, 13c., cash, ₱ lb.

SKINS—The business of the week Messrs. H. D. HULL & Co. review thus: "We have to report this week the, to most parties unexpected, arrival of about 12,000 Goat Skins from Vera Cruz, part of which have since been sold at 60c., a decline of about 15 ₱ cent. from quoted rates. Most holders, however, refuse to submit to the decline, and hold their supplies at very nearly old prices, which manufacturers, in view of the dullness in the market for Morocco, and the rumored large shipments from Tampico and Vera Cruz, do not feel willing to pay. We note sales of 4,000 Vera Cruz at 60c., and 2,400 Matamoras at 70c.@75c. cash. We also notice the arrival of the Venus, from Curacoa, with only 14 bales Goat Skins. For Deer there continues a fair inquiry from manufacturers, but the recent large sales have nearly exhausted the stock in first hands, and for the small lots on hand, higher prices are demanded. 4,000 lbs. Para and about 2,000 lbs. Central American have been sold on private terms."

TALLOW—Sales 80,000 lbs. at 11¼c.@11⅜c., and 107 pkgs. Grease at 8¾c. ₱ lb.

TOBACCO—Has been quiet, sales having been confined to 83 hhds. Kentucky, at 17c.@30c., and 150 cases Seed Leaf at 20c.@45c. ₱ lb.

WOOL—Apart from the auction sales which took place on Wednesday, and which were reported in this paper on Thursday morning, there have been no very important movements in this market during the week, and prices continue somewhat unsettled. Some lots of domestic fleece changed hands at 77½c.@90c. ₱ lb. In Boston, according to the Commercial Bulletin, there were sold 250,000 lbs. domestic fleece and pulled, at a range of 73c.@85c. for mixed and medium grades, and 80c.@90c. for superfine and extra. Also 200 bales Mediterranean, Cape and South American, at a shade below previous rates. In Philadelphia, sales were made of 50,000 lbs. fleece, at from 75c. for unwashed to 90c. for fine washed, cash, ₱ lb.

WHISKY—Sales reached 1,400 bbls., part at 43c.@43½c. ₱ gallon.

FREIGHTS—For Liverpool, the engagements were confined to 8,500 bushels Corn, at 5d. ₱ bushel, and 400 pkgs. Provisions, at 22s. 6d., by sailing vessel, and 25s. by steamer, ₱ ton. For London—2,000 bbls. Flour, at 1s. 7½d.@1s. 9d. by sailing vessel, and 2s. by steamer, ₱ bbl., and 100 tierces Lard, at 25s. ₱ ton. For Glasgow—630 pkgs. Provisions, by steamer, at 35s. ₱ ton. The latest charters, according to the Shipping List, have been: a ship, 1,183 tons, to Shanghai, Coal, $10 25 Mexican; one, 999 tons, from Boston to Batavia, Ice; thence from Manilla to New-York or Boston, $16 ₱ ton on homeward cargo; one, 989 tons, from Boston to Valparaiso and Callao, on a round sum; two hence from Chincha Islands to Antwerp, Guano, £4; two from Boston, Chincha Islands to a port in France, £4; one, 1,600 tons, hence to River Plate, Lumber, $20; one, 1,049 tons, from St. John, N. NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

We have advices from New-Orleans to the 19th inst., by the arrival at this port of the United States steamer Fulton. The most important news relates to the operations of Gen. Banks' army in the Teche Country, full details of which are given elsewhere. The reports are of the most satisfactory character. Gen. Banks reached Vermillionville, after a spirited fight at the crossing of the Vermillionville Bayou, a short distance from the village, and expected to reach Opelousas by the night of the 19th, with his entire command. It appears that he had previously fought a severe engagement at Bethel Place, at which the rebels had strong fortifications—the struggle lasting two days, and ending in the retreat of the rebels. Gen. Grover had also fought a battle, in which he defeated the enemy and captured a large number of prisoners. It is further reported that the rebel fortifications at Bute la Rose had been reduced by our fleet, and that the place was in our possession. The rebels had destroyed a large number of steamers to prevent their falling into our possession.

Our correspondence from Key West by the Fulton is to the 21st. There were in port about thirty prize vessels whose cases were yet to be disposed of by the Court, and almost every day added to the number. The gunboat Saginaw, during a cruise up the West coast, had destroyed two blockade runners, loaded with cotton and grain, at Bay Port, after a sharp contest with the rebels. Brig.-Gen. Woodbury and Staff had arrived at Key West and assumed command of the military district which embraces Pensacola, Fort Jefferson and Key West.

By the arrival of the steamer C. W. Thomas at Fortress Monroe from North Edisto Island, coast of South Carolina, on Thursday last, we learn that at that time all the Monitors were lying off that island, which was occupied by our land forces. North Edisto Island is about midway between Port Royal and Charleston harbor.

The rebels 8,000 strong, under Marmaduke and Burbridge, attacked Cape Girardeau, Mo., yesterday, but were handsomely repulsed, after a three hours' fight.

We have an account this morning, from the Army of the Potomac, of a dashing raid into Port Royal, on the south side of the Rappahannock, on Thursday morning last. An expedition, consist- of the Fourteenth, Brooklyn, and Nineteenth Indiana, crossed the river on pontoons at Port Conway, suprised a detachment of rebel cavalry at Port Royal, captured twenty or more of them, burnt a number of army wagons, and brought away several horses and mules. On the approach of a superior force of the enemy, our men retired across the river, and returned to camp in safety. The rain-storm ceased on the Rappahannock on Friday night, and the roads are again rapidly drying.

One of the most successful affairs which have recently occurred was that at Celina, Tenn., a day or two ago. Gen. Wright, in command at Louisville, telegraphs to Gen. Burnside that the town of Celina was destroyed, together with 100,000 pounds of bacon, 10,000 bushels of wheat, 10,000 bushels of corn, 100 barrels of whisky, a quantity of flour, sugar, coffee, tea, etc., and forty boats, which had been used for transportation on the Cumberland. The rebels admit a loss of ninety killed, while we had but one man wounded and one missing.

The running of the Vicksburgh batteries, on Monday last, by a lot of gunboats and transports, carrying a large force of troops, is confirmed. The transports were the Tigress, Empire City, Moderator, Anglo-Saxon, Cheeseman and Harrison. The transports ran past Warrentown without difficulty, the rebel batteries having been silenced there. The President yesterday received a dispatch from Admiral Porter, announcing that still another lot of twelve transports and six barges had got safely by the batteries. The new iron-clad gunboat Choctaw has just joined the fleet above Vicksburgh.

A dispatch from Cincinnati makes the rather improbable statement that Stonewall Jackson is in command of the rebel forces in Eastern Tennessee, part of which recently invaded Kentucky. It is reported, according to the same authority, that our forces have nearly reached Cumberland Gap, and that Gen. Burnside will soon enter the field in person to carry on a campaign in Eastern Tennessee.

The San Francisco Bulletin gives the following as the scheme for the capture of Mare Island, which caused such a scare a few weeks ago. The plan contemplated was for a body of Secessionists over 200 in number, (said to be known,) who on a day to be fixed before April 15, were to take the steamer Guadalupe on Napa Creek, and crossing over to Vallejo, take the works by surprise, as also the Government shipping which might be lying in the harbor. When these were obtained, the arms and materials which could be made use of were to be taken, and the vessel sbeing armed. were to be brought down to use against this city. It is reported that those outsiders who were suspected of having an inkling of these intentions were constantly watched by men appointed by the conspirators.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

Both houses adjourned sine die, on Saturday, after a brief session. In the Senate, two reports were presented on the Brooklyn Gas question, but neither of them was acted upon. The bill extending certain streets in New-York was lost for want of a two-thirds vote.

In the Assembly, the Conference Committee reported that the Senate receded from its amendments to the Gold bill, and the Speaker declared it passed. A question is raised that the bill was not regularly passed, inasmuch as the House did not take a formal vote on the report of the Conference Committee which had the bill in charge. The question was raised in the House, and it was decided that, as the bill originated in the House, and was adopted by the Committee as it had passed the House, no vote was necessary on the report. It was therefore sent to the Governor, and now awaits his signature.

GENERAL NEWS.

Important dispatches from the Mexican Government have been received by the Mexican Minister in Washington, relating to the operations of the French at Puebla. These dispatches include several letters from Gen. Ortega, commanding the Mexican forces in the city, to Gen. Comonfort, which we give in this morning's Times. They bring the official history of operations down to the 26th ult., on which day, after several days' bombardment, a direct assault upon the city by the French had been repulsed. On the 25th an active fire by shot and shell had destroyed a part of the Fort of St. Zavier, and on the morning of the 26th several assaulting columns of the French advanced to assail the work. These columns, in the words of the dispatch, were "repulsed and destroyed in less than an hour." This affair, magnified by travel, is probably the basis of the report which reached us a few days ago by way of Matamoras and New-Orleans, though the repulse of the French in that report was said to have taken place on the 27th.

The steamship North Star, from Aspinwall on the 17th inst., arrived at this port, on Saturday, bringing $256,684 in specie. She brings later news from the Isthmus of Panama, and from Central and South America, but nothing of special importance.

The Broadway railroad injunction issued out of the Common Pleas by Judge Hilton, is returnable on Tuesday, the 28th inst. The papers in the matter of the order of Justice Barbour, of the Superior Court, had not been filed at a late hour on Saturday, and the return day is therefore not as yet known.

The Stock Market was buoyant in demand, and higher in prices on Saturday. Gold was also 2 ℔ cent. up, closing 153½ ℔ cent. The subscriptions to the New Loan of the Government (5.20-year Stock) amounted to $1,300,000.

The Breadstuffs market was moderately active for Flour and Corn on Saturday, at rising prices, but was very quiet for Wheat, which was irregular, Provisions were generally less sought after and were less buoyant. The private transactions in Groceries were rather moderate. Cotton was in fair demand and was firmer. Heavier sales of Whisky were reported. Fish attracted more attention. The changes in other branches of trade were not important. There were 506 vessels of all classes in port. Government contracts for Provisions were awarded at $15@$15 78 for new Mess and prime Mess Pork, $12@$13 for extra Mess Beef ℔ bbl., and $7 48@$7 90 for Bacon, ℔ 100 lbs.

How We Have Been Fooled.

There is an article in the last number of the Cornhill Magazine, by a "British officer," giving the results of a trip of two months through the Southern States, closing in last December. He is evidently a cool observer, without any marked prejudices in favor of either North or South; but bears strong testimony, as usual, to the unanimity and determination of the Southern people. On his arrival at Richmond, immediately before the battle of Fredericksburgh, he hired a carriage, or something in the shape of a carriage, and went out to visit the battle-fields of last Summer in front of the city. Strange to say, he was unable to discover any trace of the formidable earthworks which prevented Gen. McClellan's advance. He says:

> "I looked in vain for the lines of earthworks which, I was led to believe, had prevented the advance on Richmond of the Federal army; they did not exist; a very small trench and breastwork being the only sign of any fortification."

He found, moreover, that in the opinion of people at Richmond, one of Magruder's greatest titles tof ame, was his having, with a force of 15,000 men, kept McClellan's whole army in check when he first arrived before Yorktown, so as to give the main body of the Confederate forces time to get ready.

Every day discoveries of this kind are made, showing the extent to which the enemy has practiced on the fears or stupidity of our Generals. He has probably accomplished more since the war began by imposition than by fighting or manœuvering. Our readers may remember that one of Adjutant-General Thomas' sage conclusions, when he made his first visit to Kentucky, two years ago, was that it would take at least 200,000 men to keep that State in the Union. When the crisis came, and fighting really began in that quarter, it was found that it did not require any men to keep it in the Union, it stayed in it of itself. But at this very same time it was reported by the Secessionists, and firmly believed all over the North, that the rebels had 90,000 men at Bowling Green. When they were compelled to evacuate Bowling Green, and Albert Sydney Johnston's report appeared, it turned out that 20,000 men was the largest force that had ever occupied it, and that they relied mainly on hard lying for their safety. We could fill two or three columns with illustrations of this sort, of the extent to which we have been overawed and held in check by false reports. There does not appear a single account of any incident of the war, either from rebel or foreign pens, in which we do not prove to have been egregiously befooled as to the enemy's force and intentions. This same British officer from whose narrative we have been quoting, tells with a chuckle, that on his arrival in our lines he found our forces in a state of the utmost excitement and trepidation, owing to recent raids made upon them by the rebel cavalry, and firmly satisfied that they were "thick as leaves in Vallambrosa" in their front; the truth being that the whole mischief was the work of three companies of irregulars.

No doubt there is some excuse for our being so often the victims of these delusions, in the fact that we are operating in an enemy's country, where the whole population lend their aid in deceiving us. But in every war, one side or other is in the enemy's country. Neutrals do not invite the belligerents to come and fight it out on their soil. The victorious party has, in nine cases out of ten, to march and fight in the midst of a hostile people. But this is just as natural and inevitable an incident of war as battles or marches. Military ability is shown just as much in overcoming this difficulty as in beating the enemy in actual combat. In fact, unless a General is skillful in divining the enemy's intentions, and in ascertaining his strength, his strategical or tactical skill will prove of very little use to him. Napoleon's forte lay mainly in finding the enemy out, in guessing what he would try to do, and in ascertaining what force he was likely to have at command to do it with; and he maintained his superiority in this respect through his whole career, though he fought but one campaign on a friendly soil.

A man who does not possess this talent or this instinct, whichever it may be called, is not fit to command an army. We might as well talk of a fencer as good who did not know how to parry, as of a General as able who never knows what force is in front of him. And no General ever does know what force is in front of him, whose mind is all the time occupied, as Gen. McClellan's unquestionably was, both on the Peninsula and in Maryland, with the contemplation of possible disasters, and the means of getting out of contingent scrapes. A temperament of this sort is as fatal to military excellence, as blindness is to skill in painting, because it is the parent of excessive credulity. An alarmed, anxious man is always liable to be duped by falsehoods and exaggerations. One of the great blunders made by the public in this war has been due to the current notion that knowledge merely makes a good General—that a man's having stood high in his class at West Point, or written a good book, proves his fitness for high command. There never was a greater delusion, and Gen. McClellan furnishes the fortieth or fiftieth remarkable illustration of it.

To lead an army well is even more an affair of the nerves than of the brain. The brain has to be in strict subjection to that other thing—that subtle essence which we commonly, for want of a better name, call temperament, or character, or moral constitution. If this be weak, or irresolute, or anxious, or overcautious, all the lore in the world is so much lumber. The great Captains have all mainly owed their success to magnificent wills and lion hearts. Jomini has twice as much to say about the art of war as either Napoleon or Wellington, but at either Vittoria or Austerlitz he would probably have been badly beaten.

The State Legislature.

The Legislature adjourned on Saturday, with more order and decorum than its previous experience had led us to expect. It has thus closed a very remarkable session,—remarkable not so much on account of any very important action which it has taken, as for the general tone and temper in which its business has been transacted. The Republicans had a very decided majority in the Senate, and made themselves substantially responsible for the action of the Assembly by securing its organization. But they do not seem to have acted with any concert or with any marked regard to the welfare and reputation of the party which will be held responsible for their conduct. A sharp and unscrupulous devotion to private and personal interests seems to have controlled a sufficient number of members to decide the action of the Legislature upon all important questions submitted to its action. The Broadway Railroad bill has been the main feature of the session; the fate of nearly every other bill of any consequence has turned upon this. It is a matter of surprise that the adjournment finds only one member under arrest for corruption in connection with the measure.

The election of Speaker, while it did something to consolidate the successful party upon strictly party measures, especially as against the Democratic opposition, did more, it may be feared, to demoralize the whole body. In spite of the technical and ingenious explanations that have been made of the transaction, it is impossible to justify the pecuniary transactions of the Republican State Central Committee, in connection with the Speakership. It was a disgraceful and damaging affair; and the officers of that Committee must expect to meet the responsibility which it involves. After such a beginning, it is not perhaps surprising that the general sentiment of the Assembly in regard to corrupt practices should not have been as high-toned as could be wished.

While the Legislature has not won for itself any enviable reputation for purity and elevation of character, individuals in both Houses have earned the gratitude and confidence of the public by their uprightness and ability. Depew, Prindle, Cornell, Havens and others in the Assembly, have brought the most marked talent and the most unquestioned integrity to the performance of their public duties. In the Senate also there are men who have evinced very decided ability, and have done everything in their power to preserve the character of the Legislature and promote the public interest.

The conduct of the active leaders of the Democratic party in the Assembly has been especially violent and discreditable. They carried into that body the tone and temper as well as the tactics of bar-room meetings, and thus contributed very largely to the disorder by which much of the session has been marked. Most of the public acts passed by the Legislature have been called for by the public good: and under all the circumstances we probably have reason to congratulate the State at large that the session has not been more prolific of mischief.

Small Change and Smaller Spite.—An attempt was recently made by an American Importer, in this City, of Secesh proclivities, to evade the payment of Duties upon Imports in Gold and Silver by subdividing an invoice of Iron into bars or bundles, so as to make the Customs upon each a few cents under $5, and then tendering Postage change in place of small Gold Coin or Silver. The record of the transaction is open to inspection at the office of the Cashier of Customs, and was exposed at the time in answer to the charge in a certain morning journal, which, from obvious sympathy made itself the organ of the Importer referred to, that the Government was repudiating its own obligations for Customs, because this trick was not suffered to go on. Previous to this affair, the Collector was disposed to accommodate the Merchants in making change for small odd sums in the course of business at his Cashier's office. But to allow the subdivision of entries for the express purpose of evading the Act of Congress requiring Gold and Silver for Customs could not of course be tolerated; and the Department at Washington, on learning the facts, was compelled to direct the general refusal of all paper change, to keep the law on the subject from being practically upset.

The same journal improved the presence of the Secretary of the Treasury in the City on Saturday to arraign him again, in a leading article, as "doing great injury to the national credit, both here and abroad," by "repudiating" his postage change for Customs. Of course, no one outside the office of the paper and its few hundred class-readers ever heard of this "great injury," but the malice of the assertion is not the less apparent. The postage change, now circulated while small silver is at a premium, is simply (and was designed to be nothing more than) a fractional subdivision for popular convenience of the ordinary legal tender United States Notes, which are not receivable for Customs, nor a tender for the periodical Interest upon the Public Debt. The Specie pledged to be paid for the latter is to be derived from Customs. The recent Acts of Congress are alike specific against any description of paper not representing Gold and Silver on demand for Customs and Interest upon the Funded Debt. If the Treasury Department were to attempt to pay three dollars and 65 cents in Postage change for the half-yearly coupon upon a $100 Treasury Bond, in place of three dollars in gold and 65 cents in silver, it would instantly be denounced as an act of bad faith, and by no one more loudly than the spiteful author of the present charge. Yet, according to his logic, the Postage change is pledged on its face to be received in payment of all sums under five dollars, as well from as to the Government, and it would, of course, be as easy for the Treasury to dodge the payment in Coin of the interest on its $100 Bonds, by claiming to pay on each Bond separately, as for the sharpest of Importers to make each bar or bundle of his iron conform to the duty of four dollars and 85 cents, and then settling thirty or forty such entries with a basketful of Postage stamps.

The Returning "Two Years' Men."

Two of the regiments of New-York two year volunteers were mustered out of Gen. Hooker's army on Thursday last, and one of them (the Eighth New-York, or First German Rifles,) will probably arrive in this City today. Other of these regiments will continue to arrive every few days until the 17th of June, when the last of them will be mustered out of the service. As is generally known, the first thirty-eight regiments from this State volunteered for two years; one of these—the Eleventh, or First Fire Zouaves—was mustered out of service nearly a year ago; of the remaining thirty-seven, eighteen belong to this City.

We hope that the regiments which may arrive to-day or to-morrow, and each of the successive regiments as they arrive, will receive as hearty a welcome as New-York can give. They are well-deserving of it. They have done as hard campaigning, as severe fighting, for the last two bloody years as ever fell to the lot of soldiers; they have struggled as honorably and patriotically as mortal men ever did for the Union and National Freedom. They have deserved success, and on many good fields they have won it. Through long months in front of Washington, through long months on the Peninsula, through campaigns in Maryland and Virginia, from the mountains to the seaboard, on the Potomac, the James, the Shenandoah, the Rappahannock and Bull Run, under McDowell, McClellan, Pope, Burnside and Hooker; from Manassas to Fredericksburgh, through Winter and Summer, in grand battle, in skirmish, and on picket duty, amid disaster and triumph, these brave men have steadily upheld the flag which they knew was bound to wave victorious in the end, though it might have to be borne through years of gloom and varying fortune. All honor to these our returning heroes. Their ranks have been fearfully thinned since they left our City two years ago; but their hearts are none the less open to the sympathetic inspirations of patriotism, and the recognition of their country and its Metropolis will cheer them up, and show them that they are remembered and honored. New-York cheered them off with plaudits loud and long; let her welcome them now with praises deep and warm.

We are sorry that the military authorities at Washington should have done an ungracious and shabby thing to them in depriving them of their arms on the eve of their return. It was very bad policy in the War Department; but whether with or without arms now, we know that they have handled them well since first they shouldered them.

Some people are afraid that the return of these regiments will so weaken Hooker's army as to make speedy operations impossible. This is not so. We do not suppose that in the whole of the thirty-seven returning New-York regiments there are now more than between ten and twelve thousand men—and even these will not all be taken from Hooker's army; and as an official report, published by authority the other day, magnanimously informed the rebels and us that Hooker had a strength of 159,328 men, it will be seen that the loss of the two years' regiments ought not to furnish an excuse for inaction. Beside the two-year men from this State, there are also some regiments with the same term from Pennsylvania, but their number is small.

Successes in Louisiana.—The news we give from New-Orleans relates to battles west of that city—of which there appears to have been three, one near Franklin, another at Vermillion Bayou, and a third at Bethel Place; but the mails have not come in regular order, and we are yet without intelligence that can be comprehended of the chief of these engagements—and, indeed, the whole of the movements are hard to be understood. The one thing that appears clear is, that in all the battles Gen. Banks' troops were successful, whipping and driving the enemy, and capturing, it is said, 1,500 prisoners. We had it by telegraph, yesterday, that Gen. Banks' army had appeared at "Point Coupée, on the south bank of Red River," which may, perhaps, be credited, in the light of the present news. Point Coupée is a town on the west bank of the Mississippi, eleven miles higher up the stream than Port Hudson, and if Banks really has pushed over there, he would seem to be in a most advantageous position to operate, in conjunction with the iron-clad fleet, against the latter stronghold. But the news needs badly to be put in order and cleared up, which it doubtless will be by to-morrow.

AMUSEMENTS.

An extra night will be given on Wednesday at the Academy of Music, when all the leading opera people in the City volunteer to perform for the benefit of Mr. Palmo. The name of Palmo is associated with the very earliest efforts made to establish Italian opera in New-York. He it was who first sought to cultivate here a taste for the highest form of musical art, and he lost a fortune in the attempt. His circumstances now are far from flourishing. He wants and deserves the most generous aid which the profession and the public have it in their power to bestow, and it is to be hoped his claims will not be disregarded.

Next Monday, May 4, Max Maretzek reopens the Academy for a summer season. He promises to present, for the first time in this country, Verdi's opera of "Aroldo," producing it in grand style, with every needful stage accessory and the full strength of his really splendid company.

This evening the Academy is occupied by the German opera company which has lately achieved so many legitimate triumphs under the management of Carl Anschutz. Nicolai's opera "The Merry Wives of Windsor," is to be sung. The entertainment being for the benefit of Messrs. Quint, Hartmann and Weinlich.

Camilla Urso, the celebrated lady violinist, announces her first concert at Irving Hall for this evening. She will be assisted by Miss Jenny Kempton, soprano, and Mr. J. R. Thomas, baritone. A programme of unusual attraction, in both vocal and instrumental works, is sure to be provided.

To-morrow, also at Irving Hall, Mr. William Castle, the new and successful tenor brought out by Mr. Gottschalk, gives a concert. He has engaged Madame D'Angri, Mr. S. C. Campbell, Mr. J. R. Thomas, Mrs. Marie Abbott and Mr. Theodor Thomas. Signor Abella conducts, both at this concert and at that of Miss Camilla Urso.

Niblo's.—"Aurora Floyd."—Dramatic versions of popular novels are invariably unsatisfactory and disappointing. Some few, however, are endurable by people who have never read the books from which they have been adapted; yet all are literary massacres of more or less atrocity. "Aurora Floyd" is no exception to the rule. The work itself, while dramatic in effect, is not theatrical in construction, and the playwright who has prepared it for the stage being obliged to fall back upon his own resources for dialogue and the arrangement of situations, fails to achieve a success of extraordinary brilliance. Miss Braddon develops her characters by a process of digressive analysis, not by the mere force of what they say and do, and the playwright who cannot take the skeleton of her plot, and, with new language and action, put life into the individuals concerned in it, is not equal to the task of presenting the novel in dramatic form. The playwright employed by Matilda Heron is clearly not equal to the task. His dialogue is bald, and weak, and tedious; his judgment in selecting incidents defective, and his taste in the elaboration of "points"—to put it mildly—questionable. As a notable instance, he makes a shocking hash of Aurora's acceptance of and rejection by Capt. Bulstrode, and her subsequent scene with John Mellish. The second act should end at the moment Bulstrode discards her, and her ensuing illness, (which lasts in the book several weeks,) her engagement and final marriage to Mellish should be related at the commencement of the third act. As it is, this medley of incidents, incongruously heaped together, makes Aurora's conduct appear unaccountable and indecent. Miss Heron struggles bravely to infuse vitality into her share of the piece, yet she will scarcely be able to render it worthy of a permanent place in her repertory. Her individual efforts, of course, elicit genuine and hearty applause, and she is capably sustained by Miss Wells, Mrs. Jordan, Mr. Harry Pearson, Mr. Jamieson and Mr. Collier; but their exertions to galvanize the dead weight of talk and business distributed to them into life are hopeless. They are trying to make bricks without straw. Undoubtedly Miss Heron's genius will insure the piece a certain length of existence; but that existence can neither be long nor healthy. Something might be done by the actors if they were to read Miss. Braddon's novel, and bring their own perceptions to bear upon their several efforts; but Miss Heron, Miss Wells, Mr. Jamieson and Mr. Pearson, appear to be the only performers who have thought of doing this.

The announcements for the current week at the theatres are as follows: At Wallack's, "Follies of a Night," and "Sweethearts and Lovers" this evening; "The Fine Old English Gentleman," and "Americans in Paris" to-morrow; Wednesday, "The Irish Heiress;" Thursday, "The Busybody;" Friday, "My Noble Son-in-law," and Saturday, "Money." At Niblo's, Matilda Heron in "Aurora Floyd" every evening. At the Winter Garden, Mr. J. S. Clarke in a new version of "The Toodles," and a drama specially adapted for him, called "Luck; or The Gentleman of Nature." At Laura Keene's to-night, Mr. Levick's benefit, "Our American Cousin," and "Our Gal." At the Theatre Français, the musical comedy of "Les Memoires du Diable" to-morrow, and Mlle. Aline Delaney's benefit on Thursday.

Madam Lizzie Bell.—Mrs. Bell advertises a musical and literary entertainment, for the benefit of the "Home for the Orphans of Volunteers," at Clinton Hall to-night. The project is a deserving one, and it is to be hoped Mrs. Bell will meet with the support she deserves.

Obsequies of William R. Blake.

The funeral ceremonies of William R. Blake, the comedian, took place yesterday, at 2 P. M., at the Church of St. John the Evangelist, (Episcopal,) in Hammond-street. The service was performed by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Cook, and was listened to by a very large congregation. In fact, the attendance was so great that scores of people were unable to gain admittance to the edifice. The ceremonies were very impressive and at times many of those present could not refrain from tears. The coffin which contained the remains was of rosewood, studded with silver nails, and bore a plate with an appropriate inscription. The lid was strewn with delicate white flowers. The solemn service having been concluded, an opportunity was given the assemblage to take a final view of deceased, after which the coffin was borne to the hearse, to be conveyed to Greenwood Cemetery. The hearse was followed by a large number of carriages, containing the relatives and friends of the departed.

Obituary.

—The Alta California announces the death, on March 25, of Dr. Jos. R. Deprefontaine, commercial editor of that paper. Dr. Deprefontaine was born in Philadelphia, and had reached his 54th year. Graduating in medicine about the year 1827, he was commissioned by the Government to vaccinate the Indian tribes on the plains, and in that capacity spent some years, traversing nearly the whole of the basin of the Rocky Mountains, and associating with the hardy trappers of that period. In 1835 he reached the Pacific shores on official duties, passing through Oregon, and in 1837 he visited the whole of the country east of the Sierra Nevadas. He was for many years prominent in the politics of Missouri, and likewise was long connected with the St. Louis press. He went to California to reside in 1852, and had since maintained his position as a first-class commercial writer, first on the Placer Times and Transcript, and having in charge for several years past the commercial department of the Alta California.

Early Closing Movement.

A mass meeting of citizens will be held at the Brooklyn Academy of Music to-night, in furtherance of the early closing movement. Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and others are expected to speak, and the occasion will be one of great local interest. The programme of arrangements is signed by all the leading merchants of the city.

Burning of a Church.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sunday, April 26.

The St. James Episcopal Church took fire during the morning service, from a defective flue, and was nearly destroyed. The congregation got out safely.

Lecture by Henry Ward Beecher.—The Brooklyn Library Association announce a repetition of Mr. Beecher's famous oration on, "What's to be Done with New-England?" to-night, at the Athenæum. No more need be said to insure a "big house."

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

Washington, Sunday, April 26.

SECRETARY CHASE'S METHOD OF PAYING THE TROOPS.

Prior to the last payment to the army just completed, no settled system of paying our armies existed. The amounts due the several organizations on the 1st of March, the last pay day, covered a period of four months. For the want of a system, some regiments had been paid to date—some had not been paid a dollar for six months—and complaints against the Treasury Department were loud and constant in every one of the eighteen armies. To remedy this, Secretary Chase requested that every requisition for pay drawn upon his Department, should indicate on its face the period of time covered by it, so as to enable him to advance money equally to all the troops. This request was complied with. Mr. Chase, also, in notifying the War Department that he was ready to pay, asked that the order of payment of the several armies should be indicated by the Secretary of War. This was done, and hereafter a careful and just system of payment will discharge the dues to every regiment in every army at one and the same time. On the 19th of March, there remained due to the troops the sum of $59,760,000. Every cent of this immense debt has been paid off, as follows:

1.	Gen. Grant's Army	$10,000,000
2.	Gen. Rosecrans' Army	8,250,000
3.	Troops at Fortress Monroe	2,950,000
4.	Troops at Missouri, Arkansas and Iowa.	7,500,000
5.	Office Payments at Washington	650,000
6.	Current Payments to invalids and discharged soldiers in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan	1,500,000
7.	Troops at Baltimore, and current payments in Maryland and Pennsylvania	500,000
8.	Payments in New-York and New-England States	250,000
9.	Gen. Banks' Command	2,200,000
10.	Gen. Hunter's Command	1,300,000
11.	Gen. Foster's Command	2,400,000
12.	Office Payments at Washington	650,000
13.	Gen. Hooker's Command	13,260,000
14.	Gen. Heintzelman's Command	2,950,000
15.	Gen. Milroy's Command	1,200,000
16.	Troops in Kentucky	3,000,000
17.	Troops in Western Virginia	950,000
18.	Troops in Minnesota	260,000
	Total	$59,720,000

ONE OF THE MISSISSIPPI BENDS CUT.

One of the Mississippi bends has been successfully cut, and without fuss, by a sailor—Commander Thomas O. Selfridge. It is Alexander's, between the mouths of the White and Arkansas, half a mile across and ten miles around. The guerrilla riflemen hunted our vessels on the north side till they were out of range, then ran across to the other side, and fired upon them from that bank. To enable our force to watch both the White and Arkansas, Selfridge made the cut-off by opening its mouth precisely where the current struck the bank in the bend. Within twenty-four hours after the cut was made he passed through with his steamer, brought the mouths of the two rivers ten miles nearer together, and stampeded the guerrillas.

MEAT FOR THE REBEL ARMY.

The subject of the raising an adequate supply of meat for the rebel army continues to occupy the Richmond press and the public. A Hanover County farmer writes to the Sentinel of the 21st, that Jeff. Davis's plan can not accomplish anything, but that the Government, to get bacon, must institute a great system of exchanging sugar for it. He says there are many families who would cheerfully part with half their supplies of meat, both for themselves and servants, if they could procure sugar to use in its stead. The negroes would be glad to give up a large portion of their rations of meat for sugar. The Government has the sugar on hand, and the soldiers have no use for it, as they have neither tea nor coffee. It costs the Government about three cents a pound. To this the Sentinel sorrowfully replies that the Government has not got the sugar to make the exchange proposed.

PUNISHMENT OF GUERRILLAS.

An official report of Leroy Fitch, commanding the gunboat Lexington, received here, states that as an effectual punishment of the people of Palmyra for the firing on and disabling of the St. Clair, he landed a detachment on the 4th of April, killed one and wounded another guerrilla, and then burned every house in the place, strictly preventing his men from pilfering or removing the smallest article.

Com. Fitch officially reports that he, up the Tennessee River, refuses transportation to hearty young natives who manifest no other love for the Union than to run away from the rebel conscription law. He thus recruits largely both our army and navy. Fitch, with his sailors and marines, seized a rebel steam cotton factory back of Boyd's Landing, on the 13th of March, and instead of putting the torch to it, disabled it by removing the cylinder-head and piston. He visited Smith's and Hays' plantations, further up, and, again abstaining from the torch, took 25 bales of cotton, 15 horses, 12 mules, 2 wagons, 8 guns and 8 Secesh. At Florence, his consorts, the Robb and Silver Lake, shelled the rebels out of their camp on the left bank. They were found in force on both sides of the river.

QUIET IN FRONT.

Everything is quiet in our immediate front. Beyond a few roving bands of rebel guerrillas among the Bull Run and Blue Ridge Mountains, there is no enemy nearer than the west bank of the Rappahannock.

THE WITHDRAWAL FROM LITTLE WASHINGTON.

It is the impression in military circles here that D. H. Hill's sudden abandonment of North Carolina was in pursuance of an order to him from the rebel authorities to reinforce Lee on the Rappahannock.

GOOD NEWS EXPECTED.

We look with confidence here for most cheering news from Vicksburgh, soon.

SPECIAL CABINET MEETING.

There was a special Cabinet meeting yesterday.

ONE OF BEAUREGARD'S STAFF.

It is rumored that a rebel officer of Gen. Beauregard's Staff was arrested here night before last. He was dressed in citizen's clothes.

MORE TRANSPORTS PAST THE VICKSBURGH BATTERIES.

The President received a dispatch to-day from Admiral Porter, saying that he had got another expedition of twelve transports and six barges safely by the Vicksburgh batteries.

ENTRY INTO SOUTHERN PORTS.

A Norfolk Board of Trade Committee, ten members, is here to importune Secretary Chase to grant a uniform system of entry into Southern ports.

VISITORS TO THE ARMIES.

The Secretary and Assistant Secretary of State, and many members of the Diplomatic Corps, left today for a flying visit to the armies at Falmouth and Fortress Monroe.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

The first bank under the National Banking law has been established in Philadelphia, and all the stock subscribed. It is understood that Brig.-Gen. D. B. Birney will be elected President, and a President pro tem. appointed until his time of service expires.

NEW-YORK REGIMENTS COMING HOME.

Two New-York two-year regiments, mustered out of the service, marched through the City to-day under escort of Scott's nine hundred cavalry.

D'UTASSY'S REGIMENT.

D'Utassy's regiment has been consolidated, only fifteen of its officers being retained.

A BRILLIANT ENTERTAINMENT.

Madame Lisboa, wife of the Brazilian Minister, gave a brilliant entertainment last evening, in honor of her daughter's marriage with Señor Del Prado, the Brazilian Chargé d'Affairs to Quito. Among the guests present were Lord Lyons, Admiral Foote, Baron Gerolt and daughters, Madame Mercier, Señor and Madame Barreda, and Mesdames Stoeckl and Podesta. A number of distinguished army officers were also present, including Gen. Heintzelman and a portion of his Staff.

MINISTER TO NICARAGUA.

It is understood that the appointment of A. B. Dickinson as Minister to Nicaragua, was due, in part, to the request received from that Government, addressed to ours, that he be recommissioned and sent back. It is said to be the first case in the history of our diplomacy where such a token of confidence has been manifested to an American representative.

FROM THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

A Dashing Expedition to the South Side of the Rappahannock.

STONEMAN'S STATION, Va., Saturday, April 25.

Thursday morning's expedition, consisting of two regiments—the Fourteenth Brooklyn and Twenty-fourth Michigan, under command of Col. MORROW, of the Twenty-fourth Michigan—reached Port Conway, and at daylight launched several pontoons, crossed the river, and seized the town of Port Royal, which was occupied by a body of the enemy's cavalry, numbering not over two hundred. The cavalry were speedily dispersed, and twenty or more of them captured. A number of army wagons were captured and burned, and several horses and mules brought away.

Our forces held the town an hour or more, when a heavy body of the enemy's infantry with artillery appeared, and our men safely retired this side the river, and on Thursday night were again back in camp, without loss, having marched forty miles in thirty-six hours, during half of which a tremendous rain-storm prevailed.

The whole affair was a bold and daring feat, and fully illustrates the present resolute temper of our men. These diversions seem to be mystifying the enemy very much.

The furious rain-storm of the past three days ceased last night with a thunder shower. To-day we have pleasant sunshine, with a strong wind, which is drying the roads very rapidly.

Prof. LOWE reports from his balloon that the enemy's camps are mainly to the south of Fredericksburgh, and that they seem to be as numerous as ever.

April Showers—An Important Case before a Military Commissioner—Return Home of the Two-year Troops—How they should be Received, &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

STONEMAN'S STATION, VA., Friday, April 24, 1863.

If it be true that "April showers bring forth May flowers," then the path of this army through Virginia ought to be strewn with roses, and every bayonet be encircled by a garland of the beauties of the floral kingdom, for we are having showers enough to bring forth a whole continent of May flowers.

It began to rain on the evening of the 22d, and at 10 A. M. of the 24th it still continued. The roads would rapidly become dry under the warm Spring sunshine we have here if they could only get a chance. The ground is settled, and refuses to absorb any more water, which runs off into the streams, and renders them impassable.

An important case is being tried, up at headquarters, by a military commission. It is that of a surgeon, belonging to the Sixth Corps, who, being allowed to visit professionally a "secesh" family, residing near our pickets, imprudently let his tongue run, until he had told them all he knew about our movements and designs. If convicted, the punishment will be severe.

The two-years' troops begin to go out to-day. The Seventh New-York, Col. VON BLUCHER, and the Eighth New-York, Col. (Prince) Salm Salm, formerly Col. BLENKER's regiment, were duly mustered out of the service of the United States yesterday, and will proceed home at once. General Order No. 44 provides that the men shall turn over their arms and equipments on the field, there being no authority for sending men home with arms, who have been mustered out. This is unfortunate, if not a serious mistake. New-York is deeply interested in the matter, and the city and State authorities must make arrangements by which these men will be received with enthusiasm and éclat. They are old soldiers, than whom braver and better never marched. The United States Government is the proper party to send these men home in a fit and respectable manner. But through the exigencies of the service, or through a lack of authority, or through some absurd and impolitic regulation of red-tape, these men are mustered out in the field, their arms and equipments turned over here, and they sent home in a loose and confused manner, the very antipodes, in appearance, of the sturdy, well-disciplined and resolute-looking soldiers that they have been for two long years. It may be useless to mourn over this unfortunate arrangement, but it is, nevertheless, a mistake on the part of the Government or authorities, in not treating these men with greater consideration. There is not a cheerful feeling among them regarding General Order No. 44. They obey it as they obey everything, because it is their duty. But they reason properly that the Government can afford to treat them, at least justly. The men have faithfully performed their part of the contract. They have served two long years of fatigues, hardships and perils. They have proven themselves worthy patriots, and the Government, in its present exigencies, cannot afford to kick such benefactors. The proposition to reënlist, as embodied in the general order mentioned, is not received with favor here; the men want to go home first; they all have their little arrangements to consummate; some slight matter of promotion to look after; they don't care about committing themselves before they are ready to do duty again. And so don't be surprised because they don't unanimously reënlist on the spot.

But send them home with honor, and let people see them in all the discipline and glory of old soldiers, safely returning from the wars. Lionize these men, show them that they are appreciated, for if a soldier cannot feel these things, for what has he fought, and marched, and suffered? Hang New-York with flags once more, and as each returning band marches up Broadway, strew its path with flowers, and let the glitter of their bayonets only be exceeded by the sparkle of your enthusiasm.

Don't be surprised if these men don't reënlist the day after they get home. Give them thirty or sixty days of the quiet home-life, and the old habits and discipline of their army-life will bring them back. Four-fifths of them will return, and when they do they will be ready-made soldiers. No part of the army has done better service than these two years' troops, and they deserve at the hands of the people of the State of New-York, all the honors they can give them. Treat them so as to keep them out of the foul embrace of those malignant enemies at home, who will lose no opportunity of magnifying the derelictions or mistakes of the Government, even in such a matter as this. If that Government persists in its mistake, see to it that its evil effects are neutralized by your own spirit and patriotism.

A BATTLE IN MISSOURI.

Cape Girardeau Attacked by 8,000 Rebels.

They Are Handsomely Repulsed After Three Hours' Fighting.

ST. LOUIS, Sunday, April 26.

Dispatches from Gen. MCNEILL, at Cape Girardeau, dated at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, announces that the rebels, about 8,000 strong, under MARMADUKE and BURBRIDGE, were eight miles distant, approaching on two roads.

This morning a flag of truce brought a demand for surrender in half an hour, signed by the order of Maj.-Gen. PRICE, to which a defiant reply was returned.

At 11 A. M. the rebels attacked in force. After three hours' hard fighting, they were handsomely repulsed. It was supposed, however, that they would change their position, and attack from another point.

Reinforcements reached MCNEILL to-day. He has two gunboats ready for any emergency, and expresses the utmost confidence in his ability to whip the enemy, and pursue them in the case of retreat. No apprehensions need be felt for the safety of Cape Girardeau. No mention is made of the loss on either side.

A strong force of artillery and cavalry occupied Fredericktown last night.

Nearly all the rebel prisoners confined here have been removed to Alton, Ill., and all the gun-shops in the city placed under guard.

A later dispatch from Gen. MCNEILL says: "We have repulsed the enemy, with severe loss. He is now retreating, but will be taken care of. Our loss is less than twenty killed and wounded."

CAIRO, Sunday, April 26.

The steamer Hyatt arrived this evening, having left Cape Girardeau at 3 P. M. She reports that a collision between the Nationals and the enemy occurred at about 11 o'clock this morning. Fighting was continued two hours. The enemy was repulsed. No particulars have come to hand.

Death of Col. Charles.

THE CAUSES OF HIS DEATH—HIS MILITARY CAREER, &C.—HONORS TO BE PAID TO HIS REMAINS BY THE CITY AUTHORITIES.

The death of the above-named gallant officer has caused intense regret amongst his immediate friends and many warm admirers, and was occasioned by wounds which he received in the Pennisular campaign of last Summer. His demise took place at No. 48 Bleecker-street, on the afternoon of last Saturday, where the body is at present, and not 48 Bond-street, as has been erroneously stated.

Col. EDWARD C. CHARLES had recently received the appointment of Provost-Marshal for the Seventh Congressional State District of New-York City—an appointment conferred by the Secretary of War, not only on account of his distinguished services in the field whilst nobly leading the gallant Forty-second (Tammany) New-York State Volunteers, but also for his good conduct and soldierly deportment since he joined the service of his country from the commencement of the rebellion.

The Colonel first received his appointment as Lieutenant-Colonel of the Twenty-Fifth New-York State Volunteers, in the month of May, 1861, and soon after he proceeded with that fine corps to the seat of war. After the battle of Ball's Bluff, at which Col. COGSWELL, of the 42d, was taken prisoner, the command was given to him. Col. CHARLES then entered on important and active service, and subsequently took part in every battle fought under Gen. MCCLELLAN up to the Seven Days' battles before Richmond. In the fifth of the seven battles, known as the Glendale battle, the gallant deceased was struck by a Minie rifle ball, which lodged in the lower part of the abdomen, and it was then supposed that he was left dead on the field, as the regiment was driven back, and he was among the missing. It was afterward discovered that he had fallen into the hands of the enemy, and was taken as a prisoner to Richmond, where he was kept for five weeks in the Libby Prison. The Colonel was then, at the expiration of that time, permitted to return on parole to New-York City, where—the wound being of a severe and dangerous nature, the ball not having been then extracted—he was sent to the New-York Hospital, and afterward removed from there to the residence of his attached and intimate friend, BOARDMAN BALDWIN, Esq., of No. 82 Second-avenue, where the best of care and attention was administered to him until he breathed his last.

Shortly after his arrival here arrangements were entered into to have the ball extracted, and this operation was successfully accomplished by Drs. BUCK, LINDSAY and others. The Colonel expressed a wish to rejoin his regiment before he was sufficiently recovered, which he did, but in a short time he had to return home again, when he was placed once more under the medical skill of Dr. BUCK, and underwent another surgical operation. This second operation resulted in the extraction of a copper nail measuring one inch and a half in length, and bringing with it a portion of the thigh bone, which was much shattered, and bore evident symptoms of mortification.

After this his health began gradually to sink, and his death proved to be more sudden than was at first anticipated.

Alderman FARLEY, Chairman of the Committee on National Affairs, has given directions that the body is to be brought to the Governor's Room, in the City Hall, to-day, where it will be laid out in state. A meeting of the Committee on National Affairs will be held this morning, at the City Hall, when Gen. SANFORD, and other military officers of distinction, are to be present. Members of the New-York City Light Guard, of which the deceased Colonel was an honorary member, are also to attend the Committee meeting. Arrangements also for the funeral obsequies are to be entered into, which, it is stated, will take place early on Wednesday.

Regiments Returning from the War.

The Seventh and Eighth regiments, New-York Volunteers, whose terms of enlistment have expired, are now in Washington, on their way home. They will leave there to-day, and will arrive in this City on Tuesday. Military and other bodies wishing to unite in giving them an appropriate reception, can learn the time and place of their landing in the City, by inquiring to-day of the Committee of Arrangements, at the Steuben House, No. 79 Bowery.

The Dog-Show.

To-day BARNUM opens his annual show of dogs. He has on his list a great many valuable and a great many curious specimens of dogs—great, little, male, female, ferocious, mild, humane, Newfoundland, King Charles, and a host of others whose cards will give their names. To those fond of dogs this show affords a fine opportunity for studying canine nature, and appreciating canine virtues. The show will continue for several days, and very many premiums will be distributed.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

CONVICTION OF RATZKY FOR THE MURDER OF FELLNER.—The trial of IGNATZ RATZKY, indicted for the murder of SIGISMUND FELLNER, the diamond merchant, which occupied the attention of the Kings County Court of Oyer and Terminer the entire week, was finally concluded on Saturday. The case was given to the jury about 11 o'clock A. M., under the charge of the Court, and in about 15 minutes thereafter they came back with a verdict of "Guilty of murder in the first degree." The prisoner confidently anticipated an acquittal. He had, during the week, paid the strictest attention to the evidence as given by the witnesses, and to the remarks of counsel on both sides, but seldom exhibited any uneasiness. When the verdict was rendered he maintained the same demeanor that he did during the week, but after his removal to a neighboring room, and in the presence of his wife, he could maintain his composure no longer, and sunk upon the floor in a fainting fit, which was succeeded by dreadful convulsions. During the intervals of his paroxysms he would exclaim, "Oh, my God, how can I stand this?" "My heart will break;" and similar expressions, indicating intense agony of mind. He finally became senseless, and his limbs grew rigid, in which state he was conveyed to a carriage and taken to jail. The prisoner will not be brought up for sentence until the June term—meantime an effort will be made to set aside the verdict.

DEAFNESS
NOISES IN THE HEAD,
Diseases of the Eye, Ear & Throat,
CATARRH CURED
BY
DR. VON EISENBERG.
From the Journal of Commerce.
EXCITING NEWS FOR THE DEAF.—An instrument called Dr. Von Eisenberg's Air Passage Expander and Regulator, a gigantic machine, weighing nearly five hundred pounds, about five feet in height, a most wonderful apparatus for restoring sight and hearing, has just arrived for Dr. Von Eisenberg, the celebrated Oculist and Aurist, and will be on exhibition at the Doctor's office, No. 816 Broadway, for a few days previous to its use. The instrument is constructed decidedly on the most scientific principles. To give a detailed description would require a greater space than we can now spare. Our Oculist and Aurist seems to do everything in the line of his profession on a gigantic scale. The new instrument for restoring hearing to the deaf and sight to the blind is so constructed that it cannot fail to open the most obstructed air passages. His new consulting rooms, No. 816 Broadway, are correspondingly magnificent, and his practice as Aurist and Oculist large and eminently successful.
From the New-York Evening Express, Feb. 14, 1863.
SENSATION AMONG THE DEAF.—The unrivaled skill of Dr. Von Eisenberg, the far-famed Oculist and Aurist, of No. 816 Broadway, has made quite a sensation among the Deaf and Blind by his wonderful cures, which attract the Deaf, Blind and those suffering from Chronic Catarrh, from all parts of the Union to his office. The number of his certificates of really wonderful cures swells daily. For the benefit of sufferers, we submit the following, which requires no comment:
NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.
I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.
I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.
JOHN TAYLOR,
No. 13 Livingston-st., Brooklyn.
NEW-YORK, July 19, 1862.
This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.
CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.
No. 188 MERCER-ST., NEW-YORK.
J. E. VON EISENBERG, M. D.—Dear Doctor: I have been afflicted with total deafness, and was induced to pay you a visit. No one can imagine my delight when, after one operation, my hearing was suddenly, and without pain, restored to me, for which I feel very grateful. After being totally deaf—almost shut out from the pleasure of using so necessary a sense—to have it returned, and to hear so distinctly, reflects great credit on you for the immense amount of skill you possess. I beg to thank you for what I can so truly appreciate. I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.
NEW-YORK, Nov. 6, 1862.
DR. VON EISENBERG—Dear Sir: Before taking leave of you, after your most successful operation on my ear, allow me to express my sincere thanks that, by your scientific surgical performance, I am enabled to hear distinctly, and enjoy a pleasure of which I have long been deprived—over a year. May you be rewarded by being enabled to perform many similar, to benefit other sufferers, and to your own emolument.
Allow me to present my kindest regards, and assure you of my grateful remembrance. Respectfully,
A. McDONALD REYNOLDS,
Captain Marines, United States.
CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.
READ
NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.
"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

OFFICE OF LIVERMORE, CLEWS & CO.,
No. 34 Wall-st., New-York.

We take this means of answering the numerous inquiries made of us respecting the United States Five-Twenty Loan, for which we act as agents.

Said Bonds bear six per cent. interest, payable semi-annually, in gold, on the first of May and the first of November.

Have twenty years to run, but being redeemable at the pleasure of the Government after five years, are designated Five-Twenties.

Are issued both in Coupon and Registered Bonds; the former in denominations of 50's, 100's, 500's, 1,000's; the latter in 50's, 100's, 500's, 1,000's, 5,000's and 10,000's.

The Coupon Bonds have coupons attached for twenty years, and are payable transferable to bearer.

The Registered are issued in the name of the purchaser, (whose name and residence are recorded on the books of the Treasury Department at Washington,) and are only transferable by signature, or power of Attorney, before an authorized Government official. The interest is collected in the same manner at the Sub-Treasury nearest the owner's residence.

Both principal and interest are payable in gold, as provided by act of Congress.

Are, (in common with all Government Bonds,) free from taxation by city, town, county or State; and the income derived therefrom is subject only to one-half of the United States tax levied upon incomes derived from other sources.

The privilege of conversion at par will cease on the 1st of July, 1863.

These Bonds are supplied by us at par and accrued interest in currency—interest commencing to the purchaser upon deposit of the money. That ladies may avoid these impositions, Madame Restell feels called upon to give this caution.

PROPOSALS.

ORDNANCE OFFICE.

WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, March 3, 1863.

PROPOSALS will be received at this office until 4 o'clock P. M., on the 30th of APRIL, 1863, for furnishing six hundred Wrought Iron Beams, for Rails of Chassis of Sea Coast Carriages.

These beams are to be made after the following specifications:

The rail for barbette carriages is a rolled wrought-iron beam, similar in appearance to the "I" shaped beams used in the construction of fire-proof buildings. It is required to be straight and smooth on its surface, and free from flaws, imperfect welds, blisters and cinder streaks. The outer surfaces of the two flanges are planes, parallel to each other and at right angles to the web. The web joins the two flanges along their middle line, leaving them to project equally on each side, and must be without bends or corrugations.

DIMENSION OF BEAMS.

Length of rail	171	inches
Depth between outer surfaces of flanges	15	inches
Width of flanges	5.375	inches
Thickness of flange at outer edge	.75	inch.
Thickness of web	.625	inch.

These beams will be inspected after the following rules:

They are to be made of good tough, well-worked, clear iron, the absence of which qualities, (generally indicated by roughness of surface, and by checks, and more marked roughness along the edges of the flanges,) as also flaws or bad welds, blisters and streaks of cinder, will cause their rejection.

1st. They are to be of the required dimensions, and square at the ends.

2d. They are to be straight, and free from short bends in the flanges and web.

3d. The outer plane surfaces of the flanges are to be parallel to each other, and in planes perpendicular to that of the web.

4th. The webs are not to be bent or troughed, as would result from resting the rails along their whole lengths on the edges of the flanges while the webs are too hot to bear their weight.

5th. The flanges are to be perfectly equal on each side of the web.

VARIATIONS ALLOWED IN INSPECTING.

In length of rail	.50 inch
In depth of rail	.10 inch
In thickness of web	.05 inch
In warp or wind, in depth of flange at extreme end of rail	.10 inch
Difference in distance between outer edges of plane surfaces of flanges on different sides of web at any cross section of rail	.10 inch
A straight edge of equal length with the rail placed on the outer edge of the flange should not depart from it at any point more than	.15 inch
A plane surface placed on the web should not depart from it any point more than	.10 inch
A plane surface placed on the plane surface of either flange should not depart from it at any point more than	.10 inch
Departure from square in depth of rail	.15 inch

Specimens of the beams, or drawings of them, can be seen at the United States Arsenals at Fort Monroe, Virginia, Bridesburgh and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and Watertown, Massachusetts.

Bidders will state the number of beams they propose to furnish, the time when they will commence the delivery, which should be as early as possible, and the number they can deliver weekly after commencing the delivery, place where they will make them, and the price per pound for which they will deliver them at the point of vessel or railroad shipment nearest to their works.

No bids will be entertained except from persons actually engaged in the manufacture of iron, evidence of which must accompany the bid.

Each party obtaining a contract will be required to enter into bonds, with proper sureties for its faithful fulfillment; and a transfer of the contract to another party will cause its entire forfeiture.

The right is reserved to reject all proposals if the prices are deemed too high, or if for any cause it is not deemed for the public interest to accept them.

Proposals will be sealed and addressed to "GENERAL J. W. RIPLEY, Chief of Ordnance, Washington, D. C.," and will be indorsed "Proposals for Wrought Iron Beams."

JAS. W. RIPLEY,
Brigadier-General, Chief Ordnance.

They are to be made in strict conformity to the drawings which will be furnished, and which may be seen at any United States arsenal. They are to be cast hollow and cooled from the interior. They are to be subject to the regular United States inspection and proof, and none are to be received or paid for but such as are accepted by the Inspector, whose decision as to the reception or rejection of any of them is to be final and conclusive.

If such application be made in relation to the assessed valuation of real estate, it must be made in writing, stating the ground of objection thereto, and thereupon the Commissioners shall examine into the complaint, and if, in their judgment, the assessment is erroneous, they shall cause the same to be corrected. If such application be made in relation to the assessed valuation of personal estate, the applicant shall be examined under oath by the said Commissioners, who shall be authorized to administer such oath, or any of them; and if, in his or their judgment, the assessment is erroneous, they shall cause the same to be corrected, and fix the amount of such assessment as they may believe to be just, and declare their decision thereon within thirty days after such application shall have been made to them. No reduction shall be made by the Board of Supervisors of any assessment on real and personal estate imposed under this act, unless it shall appear, under oath or affirmation, that the party aggrieved was unable to attend within the period prescribed for the correction of Taxes, by reason of sickness or absence from the City."

OUR KEY WEST CORRESPONDENCE.

Movements of National Vessels—About Thirty Prizes in Port—Recent Captures—Refugees—Rebel Outrages—Arrival of Gen. Woodbury, &c.

KEY WEST, Fla., Tuesday, April 21, 1863.

The army transport steamer Fulton has just arrived from New-Orleans, having been on the bar for several days, and brings news of the destruction of the ram Queen of the West and the capture of her crew by the National forces. Also that Gen. BANKS has followed up the rebels at Berwick's Bay and recaptured the steamer Diana, and also captured two other boats, and was following up his successes to the complete rout of the rebel force at that place.

There is but little local news of interest, and I have thrown together whatever there may be relating to the movements of the naval vessels and prizes sent in here. The town is perfectly healthy, and thus far the season has been very cool. Quarantine regulations are in operation, and everything having a tendency to ward off fever during the approaching Summer will be rigidly attended to.

The frigate St. Lawrence, flagship of Admiral BAILEY, will leave this station on the 1st of May for New-York with her large force of officers and men. The Admiral's flag will then be transferred to the gunboat steamer Magnolia.

There is now in port about thirty prize vessels and cargoes not yet condemned, embracing a large amount of property, most of which will probably be sent to New-York for sale.

The United States war-steamer Sagamore, Capt. EARLE ENGLISH, returned on Sunday, the 12th, from a cruise up the west coast of Florida, during which they destroyed two vessels at Bay Port. One of these was laden with 200 bales of cotton, and the other with grain. The rebels were in considerable force, and a pretty sharp contest was waged for the possession of these vessels, when Capt. ENGLISH finding himself unable to get them out as prizes, concluded to destroy them.

Some refugees from Marion County, Fla., who have arrived on the Sagamore, state that two regiments of Florida troops, raised in that neighborhood for the rebel service, and numbering respectively 1,100 and 1,200 men when they went into the war, have recently, in consequence of their reduced numbers and shattered condition, been disbanded, and the miserable remnants, of less than 100 for each regiment, have returned to their homes, broken down and exhausted victims to that spirit of treason whose ambition is rule or ruin.

A great outrage was committed by some rebels at Gadsden Point, near Tampa Bay, Fla., a few days since, the particulars of which I have learned from the surgeon of the bark Pursuit, now in this harbor repairing. This bark has been blockading the harbor of Tampa, and a party of people were seen on shore, apparently exhibiting a white flag. The distance was such as to render this uncertain, and no notice was taken, until the following day, when the same appearance was made of a white flag, and men and women—apparently contrabands—asking protection. A boat was fitted out from the bark and under the charge of Acting-Master LAPHAM, approached the shore where the party were, and hailing them were desired to land. The boat was accordingly run in shore until she grounded about a ship's length from the beach, with a flag of truce flying. At this instant the apparent contraband women threw off their disguise and together with the whole party who now sprung from their concealment to the number of fifty or sixty, commenced a fire upon the boat's crew, who made all haste to retreat toward their ship. Strange to say, there were but three men wounded, and all returned again to the bark. Acting-Master LAPHAM was shot through the arm, but is now doing well. The other wounded men are here at the hospital and recovering. This is certainly a damaging fact upon Southern chivalry.

The steamer Matanzas arrived here on the evening of the 15th from New-York, flying the National ensign at the foremast, and everybody was on the qui vive, supposing that our new commanding officer, Gen. WOODBURY, was on board. She was at once visited by the Port Physician, Dr. BAILEY, whose reception on board was somewhat remarkable, and resulted in a thorough sensation, such as seldom stirs up the people of Key West. The officer of the deck declined to give Dr. BAILEY any information as to the movement of the steamer, or the two hundred officers on board; refused him any papers, and notified him that no communication would be permitted with the ship or to the shore. As everybody supposed that Gen. WOODBURY was on board, and no one had been informed to the contrary, speculation assumed all imaginable forms during the night as to the mysterious shroud that enveloped this arrival, and it would be perfectly safe to assume that the fruitful imaginations of all active minds wandered off into dreamland in quest of cause for this overshadowing mystery. Morning came and with the rising dawn the ascending smoke was seen from the furnaces of the Matanzas and the United States steamer De Soto, both of which were soon beyond our vision in close company, with the secret of the Matanzas' movement safe from all the denizens of this Island, save one, and he is bound to preserve it.

Rear Admiral BAILEY returned on the 16th from a short cruise in the steamer Huntsville, Lieut.-Com. ROGERS, which embraced a visit to all the blockading stations this side of and including St. Andrew's Bay, Fla. They captured two prizes which arrived here; one, a sloop, loaded with cotton from the Ocilla River, and the other the schooner Anna Clapp, with a cargo of sundry foreign goods from Havana, which the Admiral chased for some time, and fired at until they found that the next shot might send them to the bottom when they concluded to surrender. At this time the schooner was within two miles of shoal water where the Huntsville could not have followed the chase. This is the second time that this vessel has been brought in here as a prize. The Admiral is said to have enjoyed the excitement of the cruise amazingly, and seemed to have realized "his boyhood o'er again." There were ten refugees and thirty-three contrabands brought in from Apalachicola on the Huntsville. The most of both parties are women and children, and in appearance and by declaration fully confirm the accounts of distress and destitution. The rebel ram built above Apalachicola is found to be of so deep a draught that she can never be passed out over the bar.

Brig.-Gen. D. P. WOODBURY and Staff, arrived on Saturday, the 18th, on the army transport steamer McClellan, and immediately assumed the command of this military district, as recently established, embracing Pensacola, Fort Jefferson and Key West.

Gen. WOODBURY arrives amongst us under the most favorable circumstances, and at a time when the genial influence of his mild and gentle bearing is likely to have a most excellent effect in harmonizing the conflicting elements that have proved so productive of conflict during the last three months.

The McClellan brought in two prizes; one a small sloop, laden with cotton, and captured off Cape Carnaveral; the other a large open launch boat, picked up adrift.

The gunboat steamer Hendrik Hudson, Capt. CATE, came into port on Saturday last, having in tow the blockade-running schooner Teresa, captured by her near St. Andrew's Bay, Fla. This schooner was sold here about four weeks since as a condemned prize, and purchased by one of a blockade-running firm from Nassau, who proceeded at once to Havana with this and some other vessels he had bought at the same sale. Who sent her out from Havana, I do not know, but she is well laden with flour, wines, dry goods and sundries from that port, and four Key West men were found on her among the crew, all of whom had recently taken the oath of allegiance to our Government, and are now here to be placed where they cannot renew their enterprise in that direction for a while.

A small schooner, laden with seventeen bales of cotton, arrived here yesterday, having been captured by the gunboat schooner Wanderer, off Anclote Keys, Florida. Among her crew I noticed two citizens of Key West.

By an arrival just from Havana, I learn that an old resident of Key West, who left his family here about two months since for New-Orleans, with a small vessel laden with salt, has arrived at Havana with a load of cotton from Manatee, Fla., where he has a son-in-law residing, and where he probably sold his salt that he had cleared at the Custom-house here under his oath not to violate any blockade laws, and protestations innumerable that he had no such intentions. Verily, cotton should command a large price to pay for his wear and tear of conscience.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher going to Europe.

On Wednesday night last, the trustees of Plymouth Church Society held a special meeting, at which the perceptible effect of constant hard work upon the pastor (Rev. HENRY WARD BEECHER) was the subject of discussion. After some little conversational debate, it was moved and carried unanimously that Mr. BEECHER be granted a leave of absence of four months from the 1st of June, and that his expenses during a trip to, in and from Europe, be defrayed by the Society.

Upon the adjournment of the meeting, the Trustees proceeded in a body to the parsonage, where they surprised the retiring shepherd, and informed him for the first time of their desire and determination. Mr. BEECHER was naturally touched by so generous an evidence of personal and social regard, and after consultation with the Trustees, concluded to accept the offer.

The incessant pulpit-work which Mr. BEECHER performs, added to his lecturing tours, his frequent popular addresses, the editing of the Independent, and the regular duties of the largest pastorate in the country, cannot fail, sooner or later, to tell upon a constitution and a brain even so vigorous and so capable as his, and his people do well to bid him rest, and not only so, but without thought or care for the outlay which the peculiar rest he needs demands.

The Society has a special meeting to-night, at which the action of the Trustees will undoubtedly be heartily indorsed.

THE HUMAN MOUTH.—The tongue may be silent, but the mouth never ceases to speak. Motionless lips are often the most eloquent; they discourse to the eye, revealing to it what might never reach the ear—never find utterance in words—Love and Hate; Mirth and Gloom; Dignity, Firmness, Pride, Scorn, Contempt. The closest mouth can hide no secrets from the physiognomist. Full lips and thin lips; red lips and pale lips; curved lips and straight lips; prim lips, pouting lips, slouchy lips; lips protruded and lips drawn back, all have their meaning. There are lips ardent and electric, which open but to utter loving words, and whose kisses thrill with bliss unutterable the thrice happy mortal to whom they are vouchsafed; and there are lips cold and passionless, whose touch sends a chill to the heart. There are lips on which smiles are at home, and laughter a frequent guest; and lips that do little but grumble and scold. There are lips refined and pure, and lips gross and sensual, and the physiognomist recognizes each at a glance. Silence avails nothing, and dissimulation little.

The mouth is a most wonderfully expressive feature. It reveals not only much of a man's character, but something of his history also. Contrast the pretty mouth of the little child, with its gentle curves and its expression of simplicity and purity, with that of the prematurely aged victim of dissipation or self-abuse, lax, flabby and dilapidated. The latter was once like the former. Between these two stretches the long, sad record of a misspent life; and we might trace the downward progress of the man, step by step, in the gradual deterioration of his lips.

When the lips move, uttering familiar words or smiling sweetly upon us, we all readily comprehend them; but they have a silent speech in which there is not even motion. Shall we make use of our art to translate that into words? There are secrets hidden in it; but to you, gentle reader, as a special favor, we will unfold some of them in the pages of the PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL for May, which is now ready. Only 10 cents. Newsmen have it.

MONDAY, April 27, A. M.

The Foreign Trade of the past week was active in the Import entries, which include further large receipts of Cotton from Liverpool, of the value of $655,000, and several valuable cargoes of Tea. The Dry Goods entries are on a moderate scale. The Export clearances of Domestic Produce improved over the previous week, and the Customs Revenue, chiefly in Gold, reached a total of $1,270,000. On the 1st of May the Treasury will disburse about $800,000 by way of interest in Gold upon the 5.20 year Loan, and on the 3d or 5th of the month $1,000,000 in Gold to the Associated Banks for interest upon the Gold bearing Certificates of Deposit of 1862. The Currency receipts at the Treasury office in this City on Deposit, at 5 ⅌ cent. interest, and for conversion into the 5.20 year Stock, amounted to about two millions per day through the week. The Deposit line of $100,000,000, authorized by act of Congress, is now nearly full, and will probably reach the maximum by the close of the present week. Outside the Treasury, the employment of Money among the Merchants and Brokers is by no means equal to the supply, and the rate of interest, as a rule, the same as at the Treasury. The presence of the Secretary in town for a day or two, at the close of the week, on business relating chiefly to the Revenue Service and Revenue Marine, gave rise to various rumors of negotiations for Money, but these were without authority, so far as any application or suggestion on his part is concerned. As the supply of Money continues to accumulate at this centre, notwithstanding the heavy conversions inta the 5.20 year Stock, it is not impossible that some of our leading Bank managers may have talked with him about placing a large sum to the credit of the Treasury in anticipation of the issue of interest-bearing Treasury Notes, authorized by recent act of Congress, say at a rate not exceeding 5 ⅌ cent. ⅌ annum. There is continued improvement in the demand and price for Government Stocks and Treasury paper on the Stock Exchange, as well as increased pressure upon the Loan Agents for conversions of Currency into the 5.20 year 6 ⅌ cent Stock at par. The latter will no doubt be unusually marked on the 1st of May, from which date the next coupon will run.

The speculation on the Stock Exchange has again assumed great buoyancy, and for a few days past the rise in prices has been both general and rapid. On the Share list this movoment was preceded by the heavy speculation in Harlem shares heretofore noticed, and the universal success of which was accounted for by the Ordinance of the Common Council authorizing the Company to extend their track through Broadway. The advance in the other New-York and Western Road Stocks is also stimulated by the current traffic on these lines, which uniformly shows a large improvement on last season. The abundance of Money also facilitates the speculative as well as the investment demand for Stocks. The price of Gold Coin fluctuated somewhat violently through the week, falling to 145@146, and then recovering to 152@153½ ⅌ cent. On Saturday the speculative buyers acted upon the presumption that nothing had been done at Albany with the Restraining Bill, but this, we believe, will prove a mistake, as the Bill appears to have gone, in due course, to the Governor.

The price of Gold Coin advanced 2 ⅌ cent. on Saturday on telegrams from Albany, that the Restraining Bill failed to become a law, from some informality in the Assembly, late last night. There was not much said in Exchange after the steamer's mail closed early in the forenoon. The whole export of Gold and Silver for the week is only $466,000. Money in very easy supply to the Brokers. The receipts of Currency at the Treasury were $2,160,000, of which $1,300,000 for the New Loan, and $860,000 on Deposit, at 5 ⅌ cent. An immenne speculative business was done on the Share list at rapidly advancing prices for Erie and most of the Western Roads, the market leaving off firm. The Quicksilver shares rose to 50@51 ⅌ cent. At 4 o'clock the following figures were quoted as compared with Friday night.

In answer to our Baltimore correspondent, J. G. E., we can state that the 7.30 ⅌ cent. Treasury Notes, due in August and October, 1864, are convertible at any time before the interest ceases into the Public stock of 1881, and which stock, being of uniform tenor, as authorized by the Acts of July 17 and August 5, 1861, will have only 17 years to run in 1864.

Mr. ALEXANDER G. WOOD, for many years with Messrs. CLARK, DODGE & Co., and recently admitted a member of the Stock Exchange, has joined Mr. JAMES FILOR in a general Brokerage business in Stocks, Exchange and Bullion, at No. 5 Broad-street. Reference is made to the card of the new house in another column.

The coupons due on the First mortgage of the Harlem Company on the 1st of May, will be paid at their office, Fourth-avenue and Twenty-sixth-street.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS.

CONCLUSIVE PROOFS

OF THE EFFICACY OF

HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS.

HEAR THE WITNESSES!

Worthless and pernicious articles are so often bolstered up in the advertising columns of the Press by fabricated letters, that the proprietors of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS rarely give quotations from their business correspondence, lest the GENUINE OPINIONS of those who use and appreciate a GENUINE ARTICLE, should be confounded by the unthinking with the FULSOME RIGMAROLE put into the mouths of MEN OF STRAW by unscrupulous empirics and charlatans, whose double object it is to SELL both their trash and the PUBLIC.

Believing, however, that FACTS IMPORTANT TO THE HEALTH AND COMFORT OF THE PUBLIC, and which can be VERIFIED AT ANY MOMENT by addressing the parties who vouch for them, ought not to be hid under a bushel, the undersigned publish below a few communications of recent date, to which they invite the attention of the people, and at the same time ESPECIALLY REQUEST all readers who may feel interested in the subject, to ADDRESS THE INDIVIDUALS THEMSELVES, and ascertain the correctness of the particulars.

It may be thought, perhaps, that a preparation like HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, which has long been a STANDARD TONIC throughout the WESTERN HEMISPHERE, and is rapidly becoming a staple of trade at the antipodes, speaks for itself in stronger tones than private eulogium can speak for it. This is true; but the phases of disease are almost innumerable, and every day new instances of the success of the Bitters, either as a PREVENTIVE or a CURE, come to the knowledge of the proprietors through the mails. Some of these are of immediate interest to thousands placed in precisely the same circumstances as the parties who have been PROTECTED or RELIEVED, and therefore it seems almost an act of duty to put them on record.

For example, seven-eighths of the multitudes who go to sea suffer more or less from SEA-SICKNESS. They dread this terrible affliction more than the fury of the elements, and it must be an unspeakable satisfaction to them to learn that it can be averted by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. It is only within the last twelve months that this GREAT FACT IN MEDICATION has been established, and hence it is not universally known. Those who have tested this newly-developed property of the preparation, and escaped sea-sickness by its aid, are naturally anxious to spread the glad tidings among all who "go down to the sea in ships and do business on the great waters." The witness upon this point, whose testimony is appended, not only gives his own experience, but corroborates it with emphatic evidence from other sources; if there be any who are skeptical on the subject, they are hereby referred directly to him and to the gentlemen who shared with him the beneficial effects of the antidote.

The immense increase in the sales of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, both at home and abroad, during the past year, proves that the world, while it obeys the Scriptural injunction to "try all things," only "HOLDS FAST to that which is GOOD." Spurious preparations, like poisonous fungi, are continually springing up, but their character is soon discovered, and they are "flung like worthless weeds away." On the other hand, a great antidote, that performs all it promises, and even more than its proprietors claim for it on its introduction, is "not for a day, but for all time."

Every dose administered of a useless or deleterious nostrum helps to disabuse the public mind of the impressions it may have received from the flourish of trumpets with which the deceptive article was announced; while, on the contrary, every bottle sold of a really valuable medicine secures the permanent custom of the purchaser, and makes him an ADVERTISER OF ITS MERITS among his friends. It is thus that HOSTETTER'S BITTERS have obtained their unparalleled popularity. The Press, indeed, has made the GREAT STOMACHIC widely known, but it is the uniformly successful results of PERSONAL EXPERIMENT that have rendered it a HOUSEHOLD MEDICINE throughout the length and breadth of the land, and the main reliance of the TRAVELER, the VOYAGER, the MINER and the PIONEER.

During the Summer months a pure wholesome tonic, in which are also incorporated the properties of an antibilious and mild aperient agent, is especially needed. Such a preparation is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the surest preventive and cure of dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation and nervous debility ever placed within the reach of the community.

Against the depressing and sickening tendency of heat and miasma, it is a potent safeguard and upon persons of feeble constitution and uncertain health, its renovating effects are most extraordinary.

ST. NICHOLAS HOTEL, NEW-YORK, March 2, 1863.

DR. HOSTETTER—Dear Sir: Being of a bilious temperament, and having suffered much from sea-sickness heretofore, I determined, when leaving New-Orleans for New-York, in June last, to try your celebrated Stomach Bitters. Having made the trip in the propeller Trade Wind, without the least inconvenience, owing to their preventive efficacy, I procured, on the 5th of July, a box of your Bitters, for the use of myself and a few friends, on our contemplated voyage to Europe in the Great Eastern. After getting to sea I opened the box and, together with about ten of my fellow-passengers, partook of the Bitters. On the second day some of the ladies on board felt sea sick, but by taking half a wineglassfull three times a day, they soon recovered. Dr. Goldsborow, the ship's physician, and Captain Paton, the Commander, together with a large portion of the passengers subsequently experimented with the Bitters, and uniformly with entire success. They will certify to the fact, that during the whole trip not one person on board was sea-sick after the second day. Dr. G. having appropriated the last remaining bottle as an infallible specific. I had none of the article on my return voyage, and suffered more than I can describe in consequence. I have ordered two boxes from here to my late fellow passengers, now in Liverpool, and shall send them out by the next steamer. You ought to have a depot in Liverpool. Advising all persons venturing for the first time (or indeed at any time) to sea, to obtain if possible, a supply of your bitters before leaving port, and thereby SECURE themselves against sea-sickness,

I am, respectfully, your obedient servant.

JOHN A. MUELLOR.

QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT, CONVALESCENT CAMP,

NEW-ALEXANDRIA, VA., March 9, 1863.

Messrs. HOSTETTER & SMITH: Sirs, I have used some of your HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS with the greatest success imaginable. I have been sorely afflicted with Dyspepsia for five years. I have spent more than three hundred dollars in paying doctor bills and buying medicines, all of which gave temporary relief but your most invaluable remedy has done more good than all others I have ever used.

Respectfully yours, SAMUEL RYEN.

EAGLEPORT, MORGAN COUNTY, OHIO, March 2, 1863.

Messrs. HOSTETTER & SMITH: Gents, send us four dozen HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as we are nearly out, and we can't do without it; in fact it is superseding all other stomachic preparations we have got.

Respectfully, PRICE & SILVERY.

NEW-MATSVILLE, PUTNAM CO., IND., Feb. 14, 1863.

Messrs. HOSTETTER & SMITH: Gents. You will please send me two or three dozen of your very desirable and highly popular "STOMACH BITTERS." My supply is well nigh exhausted.

Very respectfully, A. J. HAWN.
